STREET CAR SERVICE STOPPED ON SUNDAY MORNING, COMPANY CHARGING LACK OF POLICE PROTECTION

ADEQUATE POLICE PROTECTION PROMISED BY MAYO

"The people of Atlanta and the Georgia Railway and Power company officials and employees may rest content that the police will put up with no further disorder while this strike continues, and that the department will exert its every effort to insure safety and protection in the operation of trolley cars which will be resumed Monday morning."

Police Chief W. M. Mayo made this statement to a reporter for The Constitution last night following the conference between the board of police commissioners and business men of the city.

"No crowds will be permitted to gather upon the streets, and no demonstrations will be countenanced. The men will be instructed to prohibit the using of invectives, and the word 'Scab' will not be tolerated. If necessary, the police will resort to stringent means. Arrests will be made, and prisoners will not be given copies of charge, but carried to headquarters, where they will be imprisoned."

STRIKING GERMANS ON TWO-MILE FRONT, BRITISH ADVANCE NEAR TO BAPAUME

ANOTHER DRIVE IS BEGUN BY THE RUSSIAN ARMIES FOR LEMBERG'S CAPTURE

Berlin States That the Russians Are Striking With Great Force Above and Below the Galician Capital, and Admits They Have Gained at Points--Russians Claim the Capture of Many Prisoners.

New York, October 1.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—The left wing of the British army between the Ancre and Somme rivers in France has advanced on nearly a two-mile front from the east of Eaucourt L'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road, recapturing in the operation the town of Eaucourt L'Abbaye and throwing their line to within about four miles of Bapaume itself.

In addition the British line to the east has been sent forward for good gains into the German front, according to London. Valuable work was done by the new armored tractors in the fighting.

GERMANS CLEARED FROM POSITIONS.

The Germans have been cleared out of positions near the Stuff redoubt, which they had held since the heavy fighting of last week, and also have been forced to give up all except a very small portion of the Schwaben redoubt in this region. In addition to the east, between Le Sars and Flers, the troops of General Sir Douglas Haig have pushed forward their positions. During Saturday night and Sunday German trenches near Morval and Clery fell into the hands of the French in grenade fighting.

Berlin reports, however, that attacks by the British east of Thiepval and by the French in the vicinity of Rancourt, Courcelette, Morval and Halle were repulsed. The activity around Halle may indicate the commencement of an entente drive with Peronne as its objective.

In the Champagne region the Germans, says Paris, attempted two surprise attacks against the French, but both of them failed.

RUSSIANS START BIG OFFENSIVE.

In Galicia the Russians have started another big offensive with the purpose of driving on to Lemberg. The official reports from Petrograd and Berlin are at variance with regard to the results of the fighting. Petrograd reports that thirty miles northeast of Lemberg, along the Brody-Krasne railway the Russians are forcing their way forward despite the stubborn resistance of the Teutonic allies, and have captured 1,987 officers and men. Also south of Brzezany, fifty miles southwest of Lemberg, and along the right bank of the Zlota Lipa, Austro-German positions reported to have been taken and 112 officers and 2,268 men made prisoners.

Berlin asserts that the Russian forces along the Brody-Lemberg railway were stopped by the artillery of the Teutons. But on the southern wing Berlin admits the Russians gained a foothold, and also advanced in the angle between the Tseniuvka and Zlota Lipa rivers.

In the Carpathians, in the Ludowa sector, the Austrians have turned to the offensive, and, according to Vienna, in an attack captured four Russian

Fired by British Shells Blazing Zeppelin Drops In Suburbs of London

German Aerial Fleet Attempts to Raid the Metropolis and the East Coast of England.

GREAT CROWDS CHEER DEATH OF THE ZEPPELIN

The Fourth Airship to Be Brought Down on English Soil Since the Germans Began Their Raids.

London, October 2.—Another Zeppelin raid against London and the east coast of England is in progress.

An airship was brought down in flames north of London, according to the official statement issued shortly after midnight.

Great crowds cheered the spectacle of the burning Zeppelin as it fell in the London district. The great flare from the burning aircraft was visible for a long distance.

Graphic accounts of the manner in which the Zeppelin—the fourth to be brought down on English soil—fell a victim to Great Britain's anti-aircraft defenses have been received from London's suburbs.

Although the Zeppelin crashed to earth almost due north of London, the spectacle was witnessed by thousands of Londoners.

The official statement regarding the raid says:

"A number of hostile airships crossed the east coast between 9 o'clock and midnight. A few bombs were dropped near the coast, but no damage is yet reported.

"The raid is still in progress, and some airships are in the vicinity of London, where some guns have been in action.

"An airship is reported brought down in flames north of London."

Four Zeppelin raids on London and the east coast have been carried out in the last month, the more recent attacks being made by airships of the newer and bigger types. On September 2 one Zeppelin was struck while flying over the London district and fell in flames.

Two Zeppelins were destroyed in the raid of September 23. On that occasion the raiders killed thirty-eight persons and wounded 125. The following night in another raid in which the airships apparently escaped without damage, they killed thirty-six persons and wounded twenty-seven.

In the raid of September 2 only two persons suffered death and thirteen were injured.

DIXIE FLYER HIT BY THE SOUTHLAND

Several Persons Injured in a Rear-End Collision of Fast Trains on Atlantic Coast Line Near Folkston.

Waycross, Ga., October 1.—Several persons were injured in a rear-end collision between the Dixie Flyer and the Southland, both northbound on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, at Folkston, Ga., about 10 o'clock tonight, according to reports reaching here.

Officials of the road and physicians with medical supplies left for the scene immediately on a special train. A wrecking train followed. The Dixie Flyer was bound from Chicago and the Southland from Cincinnati.

DR. LEE TO BE CHAPLAIN IN ST. LOUIS HOSPITAL

Former Atlanta Pastor to Be Transferred From Pulpit of St. John's Church.

St. Louis, October 1.—(Special.)—In what tomorrow will probably prove the most sensational change ever made in any district in the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. James W. Lee, former Atlanta pastor, will be transferred from the pulpit of St. John's church, of St. Louis, to chaplain in the Barnes hospital here.

Dr. Lee has been presiding elder of the St. Louis district of the St. Louis annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. The St. John's church is the richest church in the south and was built through Dr. Lee's efforts a number of years ago at a cost of $250,000. Dr. Lee was pastor of this church three times. He had been preaching in St. Louis for twenty-three years, having come directly here from Atlanta. He has a world-wide reputation as a writer and some of his books have been translated into various languages, several into Japanese, because of their remarkable teachings.

The change has not been officially announced, but will be made public early tomorrow, it was stated tonight by one close to the bishop.

The Barnes hospital is a $500,000 institution, one of the best of its kind in the world, and is located opposite the beautiful Forrest park here.

DEATH OF A GEORGIAN SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Wm. R. Johnson, of Thomasville, Fell or Was Thrown From Train in Illinois.

St. Louis, October 1.—(Special.)—Mystery surrounds the death at Danville tonight of William R. Johnson, said to be a wealthy planter of Thomasville, Ga.

Johnson either fell or was thrown from the Dixie Flyer, a fast train on the Eastern Illinois railroad, early Wednesday morning.

The accident occurred about two miles south of Danville and was not reported until some time later, when Johnson was picked up unconscious alongside the track. He recovered consciousness late last night long enough to mumble something about being "thrown."

Police at Danville believe it impossible for a passenger to accidentally fall off the Dixie Flyer. They have instituted an investigation to learn whether the planter was robbed.

Eastern Illinois railroad officials are said to be co-operating with the police in every way. Johnson's family has been communicated with, and the body probably will be shipped to Atlanta after an inquest.

STEAMER LINE TO LINK CHINA AND THE SOUTH

Shipping Corporation to Promote Trade Is Organized.

Washington, October 1.—Organization of the Chinese-American Exchange company, a shipping corporation which proposes to inaugurate a general mercantile trade between China and American ports on the gulf, south Atlantic and Pacific, was announced here tonight. It is headed by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, managing director of the Southern Commercial congress, and is understood to have the active backing of that organization.

Establishment of regular sailings is contemplated between Norfolk, Charleston, Wilmington, Savannah, Jacksonville, Mobile and Galveston on the east coast, and San Pedro, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland on the west coast. At Portland connection will be made with another fleet plying to and from the Chinese treaty ports. A bond issue of $1,500,000 will be issued soon, company officials announced. No date has been set for inauguration of sailings.

The company's Chinese correspondent will be Kai Fu Shah, formerly Chinese minister to the United States. The directors include John M. Parker, New Orleans; Carl Espy, Savannah; Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Florida; Adolph Bolt, Houston, Texas; Senator Hoke Smith Georgia; Charles E. Haulkner, Baltimore; Herman A. Metz, New York, and Charles Denby, former secretary of the American legation at Pekin; Robert F. Rose, former trade adviser to the state department, has been selected general counsel; Richard Chilcott, of Seattle, superintendent of the division of ship auxiliary, and Thomas Southgate, Norfolk, traffic adviser.

In order to promote trade between this county and China, the officials of the company announced, permanent exhibits of Chinese products will be established in fourteen cities throughout the United States. General offices will be at the Southern building here.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE, INJURING OCCUPANTS

Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—A. L. Wood, of Jackson, and Roy Wright, of Griffin, were injured this afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding was wrecked on the Forsyth road, near Macon. The car turned turtle, throwing out the five occupants.

Wood's injuries consisted of a gash on the head and he was able to leave the hospital in a few hours; but Wright is more seriously hurt, he having received a bruise above the eye, a cut on the back of his head and a fractured rib.

POLICEMEN ARE ORDERED TO KEEP CROWDS FROM GATHERING ON THE STREETS TODAY

Today, acting on orders of the police commission, the Atlanta police force will prevent any strike demonstrations, will arrest all those guilty of violence or of using abusive language against car employees, and will see to it that no crowds are allowed to gather. These instructions were given the police in the following order, passed on Sunday:

"Be it resolved: That the board of police commissioners go on record as favoring a strict enforcement of Section 1822 of the City Code, ordaining that the streets be kept clear of crowds, and that the public and street car employees be protected in the exercise of their legal rights, and that the failure of any officer or employee of the police department to carry out such instructions will constitute inefficiency and insubordination.

"Be it further resolved: That any individual heard to apply any epithet or misnomer to any other individual shall be arrested and prosecuted on a charge of disorderly conduct as provided in Section 1762 of the City Code." (The code provides that a heavy fine or imprisonment be imposed in such instances.)

Meeting in executive session, the board authorized Chief Mayo to put on regular service any or all the supernumeraries required for the full protection of the car service, of employees and of passengers. The chief is authorized to increase the number of regular policemen to the number of 200, if this many are needed.

This action was taken in view of the statement made at the joint meeting of business men and police commissioners, by Mell Wilkinson, president of the Presidents' club, who said he was authorized by his organization to underwrite the salaries of these men. This offer was made on account of the condition of the city's finances, which would prevent the hiring of new men.

Optimism over the street car situation was evidenced by city officials Sunday, all expressing confidence that full protection would be given the car company employees and passengers today and that the car service would be uninterrupted from now on. Among these statements are the following:

"The board of commissioners will not sanction the tactics used by strikers or strike sympathizers Saturday night and Sunday morning. The police will be instructed to use force if necessary in quelling outbreaks.

"No chance for outbreaks will be permitted by the police, who will see that no crowds are allowed to congregate, and that the crews and passengers of cars are protected from insults or violence from any class, whether it be a striker, sympathizer or spectator. Arrests will be made when necessary and the offender carried to prison to be dealt with severely."

Mayor James G. Woodward said:

"I see no further cause for the city to rest under apprehension. President Arkwright has satisfied city authorities and Atlanta business men that the trolley company is not seriously affected by the strike, and that just as soon as the police furnish protection the operation of cars will be resumed.

"I do not predict a long life for the agitation, and with today I think the crisis has been passed. The police are competent to manage the situation, and, now that they understand their duty, they will go at it with a spirit that will bear immediate fruit."

Andy King, chairman of the police commission, said:

"The strike situation is now well in hand, for the police understand their duty, and will put up with no further manifestations. The decision to prevent crowds gathering will be one of the biggest elements in keeping order.

The women and children who propose to come downtown Monday may do so with assurance that they will not be molested or humiliated. The police have adequate men and means to cope with any situation which might arise, and their superiors are determined that their duty shall be performed."

SCHOOLS OPEN TODAY.

"Atlanta's public and high schools will not be stopped by the street car men's strike," L. M. Landrum, superintendent of schools, announced last night. "We are going to open the schools Monday morning just the same as if there was never a car strike," said Superintendent Landrum. The children all live in the neighborhood of the grammar schools, and it will not be so inconvenient for them to get to and from their studies. The teachers must be on hand to carry on the work. High school students, however, will have some difficulty in getting to their studies, if the street cars are not running in the morning."

Declaring that their employees were being insulted and threatened and that there was danger of the men and of passengers being seriously injured as a result of the alleged failure of the police department to preserve order, the officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company called all the cars to the barns at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Following this action a conference was held in the afternoon at police headquarters of prominent representatives of practically every civic organization in Atlanta with the board of police commissioners to demand adequate police service and an end to disorder during the strike of the carmen.

As a result trolley lines will resume operation this morning, with all members of the police department instructed to protect the car company's service, passengers and employees, and to countenance no such outbreaks as those of Saturday night and Sunday morning which made downtown Atlanta a scene of confusion and clamor.

The invective "Scab!" applied to regular carman or "strike-breaker" will bring arrest and imprisonment at

Here it is Monday morning again—the week ahead and much to buy—maybe—but whether or no it be much or little, you can align your purchases to a closer economy, get better goods, bigger values and a higher degree of satisfaction generally, by reading the advertising pages of The Constitution each morning, and consulting the offerings of Atlanta's most representative merchants, and adopt their daily trade curriculum as your criterion for buying your needs and saving money. Try the experiment this week.

headquarters with the possibility of a heavy fine or stockade sentence. Men will not be permitted to clamber aboard passenger cars, as happened Saturday night, to heap epithets upon the crews. In each instance the police have instructions to make arrests, and to use the club if resistance is offered.

MAYO WILL LEAD MEN.

Failure of the police to carry out these instructions will merit suspension under charge of inefficiency and insubordination. Chief Mayo will remain in the field to lead his men in carrying out orders delivered last night by the board of commissioners. He will be aided by Assistant Chief E. L. Jett, who has hitherto been in charge of the night shift.

The stringent measures to be adopted by the police are perhaps best expressed in the resolution adopted by the commission at Sunday's meeting, and which was submitted by Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson. Proclaiming the application of the word "scab" or other invective to constitute disorderly conduct, the resolution follows:

"Be it resolved, That the board of police commissioners go on record as favoring a strict enforcement of section 1822 of the city code, ordaining that the streets be kept clear of crowds, and that the public and street car employees be protected in the exercise of their legal rights, and that the failure of any officer or employee of the police department to carry out such instructions will constitute inefficiency and insubordination.

"Be it further resolved, That any individual heard to apply any epithet or misnomers to any other individual shall be arrested and prosecuted on a charge of disorderly conduct as provided in section 1762 of the city code." (The code provides that a heavy fine or imprisonment be imposed in such instances.)

DESCRIBES MOB ACTIONS.

Stories of disgraceful incidents occurring on trolley cars and the streets Saturday night and Sunday morning were related by the prominent business men who attended the board meeting, which was held at 3:30 o'clock in the commissioners' quarters at points station. The disorderly outbreaks of Saturday night were decried by men who declared that repetitions would disgrace the name of the city.

Some of those who urged on the board the necessity of better police protection were H. S. Johnson, F. J. Paxon, Ivan E. Allen, Asa G. Candler, Alex C. King, J. J. Haverty, Bolling H. Jones, J. J. Spalding, V. H. Kriegshaber, J. K. Orr, L. J. Daniel, R. C. Alston, C. J. Kelley, R. R. Otis, W. W. Orr, Mell R. Wilkinson, Forrest Adair, A. S. Adams, Nym McCullough, W. M. Nixon, Edward Inman, John E. Murphy, W. O. Foote, E. P. McBurney and W. L. Peel.

Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, stated at the opening of the meeting that the cars had been ordered to the barn Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock and Sunday at that hour, not because of a lack of employees to man them, but because of lax police protection, which, he charged, subjected the crews of every car in the city to vicious insults, and, in many cases, personal violence.

He asserted that men had been assailed while on the rear platform or at the controller box by members of mobs, who climbed upon the car steps and snatched at the badges of the non-strikers, clawed at their clothing and in the case of one motorman snatched away his watch. Mr. Arkwright explained that he called the cars from service rather than force the company's men to endure the humiliation and injury that grew from what he termed police indifference.

SAY WOMEN SUFFERED.

Others charged that women and children had suffered by the alleged neglect of the police in curbing the mobs.

Mayor-elect Asa G. Candler, who spoke twice at the meeting, suggested that unless the police did their duty that the taxpayers of the city should hold an indignation meeting and demand that such steps as would guarantee the preservation of order be taken. While he did not say so in so many words, those present could plainly read between the lines of his remarks that Mr. Candler thought the best thing Chief Mayo could do, unless he was determined to see that order was preserved, would be to tender his commission to the police board.

This statement of Mr. Candler's came after Chief Mayo had addressed the meeting. The chief was tendered the floor on the suggestion of Mr. Candler, who said it was only fair that he be given an opportunity to explain his side of the matter.

Colonel F. J. Paxon, of Davison-Paxon-Stokes, spoke for the Whitehall street merchants. He stated that unless the cars were operated it would hurt every merchant on this street, as well as every other section of the city. He recounted instances Saturday night when employees of his company, many of them girls, were practically forced to leave the cars by the strikers and their sympathizers, and declared that unless order was restored and car schedules resumed these girl would suffer severely.

PROTECTION DEMANDED.

Mel R. Wilkinson, president of the Presidents' club of Atlanta, which is composed of the executive heads of the civic organizations of the city, and designated as the spokesman of the club, said: "As the head of the Presidents' club I demand that the police furnish protection and maintain order on the streets. These 900 loyal employees of the Georgia Railway and Power company, who want to work and make an honest living have a right to do so, and it is not fair for a small handful of men to attempt to deprive them of this right."

Victor Kriegshaber, president of the chamber of commerce, stated his idea of conditions in a short, straight-from-the-shoulder talk. He said: "As the official representative of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce I demand that the police maintain order. If they don't there'll be some embarrassing questions asked them."

Ivan Allen, president of the Southeastern fair, said: "Atlanta is on trial. We have advertised the fair extensively and we cannot afford to inconvenience the many visitors who will come here. The police must preserve order here at any cost."

R. R. Otis, president of the Real Estate board, said: "It isn't a question of who is right in this strike. It isn't a matter of taking sides with either the strikers or the Georgia Railway and Power company. The only question is: Are the Atlanta people, the taxpayers of the city, entitled to demand of the police force order and protection from rioting? The citizens pay their taxes and the police force look to the taxpayers for their salaries. We must have order; the good people of Atlanta demand it."

Forrest Adair told of a personal experience Saturday night that illustrated, he said, conditions on the down town streets. "I was driving my automobile and reached a crowded section of the city. The street was blocked by people and the police were not doing anything to clear the street. I blew my horn and a number of the strikers who were in the crowd recognized me and said, 'Let him by.' They cleared a way for me, but the police were asleep on the job, it seems. Sunday I was talking to Chief Mayo and asked him why he did not clear the street at that time, as I saw him in the crowd. He answered my question by saying that the people in the street were orderly."

The methods of the strike agitators were pronounced "damnable" by Commissioner W. A. Vernoy, who frankly expressed his lack of sympathy for the men who precipitated Saturday night's "walkout." "We will enforce protection and peace," he said, "even if we have to do it at the point of 40-centimeter guns." In this connection, he urged heroic measures, calling upon Chief Mayo to send to the front ranks of the men who will go against this morning's mobs the bravest of the department.

PREVENT DISORDER.

The business men attending the board conference sought to make plain their conception of the police department's duty in handling the strike situation, which was to prevent mob outbreaks, rather than to suppress them. It was impressed upon the board that the fault with which the department had been charged was not so much in its failure to subjugate disorderly crowds as its neglect in taking proper steps to prevent disorder.

By the dispersion of crowds of sympathizers, strikers and spectators, it was submitted to the board, the police both on mounts and afoot will be able to prohibit outbreaks. And, as a result, the police will go on duty this morning plainly instructed to prevent the gathering of crowds at any point in the city.

Trolley and civic officials, as well as commercial and industrial leaders, were of the opinion last night that service would be resumed this morning, and would continue unimpeded. Chief Mayo was warmly praised by members of the board for his personal efforts in seeking to quell strike disturbances.

Trolley officials took occasion to impress upon the business and industrial leaders of the city what was termed the woeful neglect of duty on the part of members of the police department in handling the crowds.

One instance was recalled especially —that of Sam T. Dorsey and two non-striking linemen attached to the Georgia Railway and Power company, who were followed by a mob of fifty or more through the heart of the downtown district and four blocks down Decatur street, where Dorsey was forced to hold the crowd at bay with a pair of steel connectors, an instrument after the fashion of linemen's pliers.

The clamor began in the vicinity of Child's restaurant, on Marietta street, one of the most conspicuous spots at Five Points. A crowd of a half hundred men and boys was dogging the heels of three men.

PURSUE THREE MEN.

They were bound for the substation on Decatur street at the corner of Butler. The pursuing mob, noisy and vicious in the invectives hurled at the trio, spread over the sidewalk and beyond the curb. It gathered recruits as it progressed. Across Five Points, where squads of policemen were on duty, both on mounts and foot, the pursuit continued.

In the darkness of Decatur street, between Five Points and North Pryor, the mob gathered courage. Several men in the front ranks jumped forward, pushing and shoving Dorsey and his companions, striking them in the back and trying to trip them, all the while hurling profane epithets. Women in their paths put hands over their ears to keep from hearing the mob's insults.

The pursuers grew so bold at 81 Decatur street that Dorsey's companions fled toward police headquarters. Dorsey, unwilling to take flight, stopped in a beef market, pulled his conductor's badge from his pocket and offered fight to the next man who approached him. Although the mob had been unusually nervy in its pursuit, no one volunteered to take him on.

The scene occurred after the mob had carried its pursuit past two policemen at the upper end of Decatur street, and two who stood across the street a short distance beyond No. 81, at which Dorsey had halted. At the insistence of a man who had followed to witness the incident, these latter policemen were induced to go over and look into the trouble. At the time of their arrival a young blood had undertaken to give fight, Dorsey subduing him with a show of his connectors, at which time the officers interfered.

BOTH SIDES ARE ACTIVE.

Both the strikers and the loyal car employees were active Sunday. The latter congregated some 800 or more strong in the auditorium of the traction building on Piedmont avenue at 12 o'clock to hear addresses from members of the rank and file, as well as from officials of the street railway system.

A spirited talk was delivered by Preston Arkwright, in which he promised protection to the men who remained faithful to their employers, and assured that, under no circumstances would the concern give way to the demands of the strike agitators. His speech was fraught with fight, and his words frequently stirred the carmen to outbursts of acclaim.

"The men with backbone, manhood, loyalty are remaining in the company's ranks," he spoke, "and the fight is as good as won. There is but little fight to be put up, as our trouble is not coming from the strikers, but from the riff-raff whose outbreaks have not been curbed by the men put on the streets to give us protection. But I assure you that you shall have protection, and that you will no longer have to endure the dangers and humiliations of Saturday night and this morning."

"LOYAL 800" CHEERFUL.

The loyal 800 was a cheerful lot, as evidenced by their response to the fighting mood of President Arkwright. Previous to his appearance, there had been "experience addresses" delivered by men of the ranks.

Addresses were also made by H. M. Atkinson, a director of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and C. H. Matthews, assistant superintendent of transportation, both of which were received with enthusiasm. The non-striking employees were assured by Arkwright that during the time the car service was abandoned they would be paid full wages. Following the meeting, the majority of the trolley forces returned to their homes.

On the other hand, the strikers and their sympathizers were equally as active. A parade of 500 and more strikers and sympathizers moved through the downtown streets shortly before noon Sunday morning, leading to the Red Men's Wigwam at 86 Central avenue, where a mass meeting was held, presided over by William Pollard, of the International Electrical Workers' union, and organizer of the proposed Atlanta Carmen's union.

It was stated by Mr. Pollard that more than 500 street carmen had joined the strikers. This, however, is denied by trolley officials, who say that only seventy-five have left the company. Perhaps 1,000 were in attendance upon the strike meeting, and generous enthusiasm was manifested. A number of new strikers were signed up.

PUBLIC INVITED.

The meeting was open to the public. Mr. Pollard delivered a spirited address, in which he assured the striking car men and electrical workers that the fight was as good as won, and that he had never in his entire career witnessed an agitation that gained such strong impetus at such an early day in its progress. He predicted that the trolley company would be forced to terms within a surprisingly short time.

A resolution adopted by Altoona lodge, No. 302, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, encouraging the strikers and offering support, was read to the meeting by J. L. Cone, member of a committee from Altoona lodge. The resolution assured the men of the support of the trainmen organization, and of its resolve to boycott the trolley system during course of the strike.

This action will probably be taken by all the organized labor bodies of Atlanta, according to a prediction made Saturday night by Mr. Pollard, in which he was borne out by Hardy Teat, another strike leader.

Today a vigorous campaign will be urged in behalf of the efforts to unionize the car men, and this will be promoted with picket squads, speakers and propaganda. A plea made to Mayor Woodward to permit strikers and sympathizers to deliver addresses in such public places as the Grady monument and city hall yard was denied. But speeches will be delivered by union leaders in their halls.

Picket squads were organized Sunday and will be put on duty this morning at every point of vantage possible. Both car barns will be picketed, as will Five Points and other conspicuous downtown centers. Picket leaders will be chosen, and, it is reported, a number of women will be included.

An effort was made last night to reach Chief Mayo to ask him if he would allow strikers to picket the car barns and down town streets. The chief had retired for the night after being up all Saturday night and given orders not to wake him if called by anyone but police headquarters.

It was stated at headquarters that the orders which had been given the roundsmen probably covered this phase of the situation, and that the strikers would not be allowed to picket these places.

Squads of county policemen scoured the vicinity of Simsville, on the river line, last night in search of men who had cut the trolley wire and feed wire of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and who, in their effort to forestall capture, severed a number of telephone lines in the vicinity. This was the first act of property violence reported to the traction company's offices.

Due to the fact that a report has been spread over the city that he is working with the trolley company, Ed Belle Isle, operator of the huge sightseeing trucks which were put into regular passenger service to Lakewood Sunday, made formal denial last night to The Constitution of this report.

PRESIDENT MARQUARD ENCOURAGES STRIKERS

Louie P. Marquard, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, made a ringing speech during the afternoon meeting of the strikers, in which he urged the men to stick to their guns and win the fight.

"You men are fighting for a cause that is just. Your wives and children are looking on you to win out. A victory will mean a step forward for every one of you. It's up to you. If the strikers keep a stiff upper lip and do not show the yellow streak they cannot lose," he said.

"While I prefer to see this fight won peaceably, still one cannot blame men for fighting for what they consider right," he said in closing.

CONFIDENT STREET CARS WILL CONTINUE TO RUN

"Only 75 Men Have Left the Ranks, and We Don't Need Them," Says Arkwright.

President Arkwright was confident last night that trolley service would continue uninterruptedly from this morning on. "Now that the police department has had an understanding of the situation I have no further apprehensions," he said. "Service was discontinued Sunday morning not because we were in need of crews to man our cars, but because the company did not wish to subject its employees to the insults and violence that obtained Saturday night and Sunday morning.

"The street car company does not recognize a strike, for there is no strike in the proper sense of the word. Only seventy-five of our men have left the ranks, and we do not need them. The company has been in nowise affected by the 'walkout.' We have been assured that the police will provide us with ample protection, and with this assurance we will resume operation Monday morning, confident of no further impediment."

Killing Frosts Reported.

Washington, October 1.—Reports to the weather bureau tonight show that killing frosts in the middle Atlantic states last night extended as far south as southwest Virginia and that there was heavy frost as far south as Tennessee.

It has been decided by English scientists that the waters of Bath contain radium and give off radium emanations in as large quantities as any other radioactive waters in the world.

250 WORSHIPPERS FALL INTO CELLAR

Binghamton, N. Y., October 1.—Fifty-three persons were injured this afternoon when the floor of the First Presbyterian church of Johnson City collapsed during the services being held in connection with the laying of the cornerstone. Seven of this number are seriously hurt, but it is believed all will recover.

Two hundred and fifty persons were hurled into the basement 18 feet below when the floor gave way, and it was nearly a half hour before all had been removed.

The floor that collapsed was a temporary one constructed to care for the dedication crowd.

HEMPHILL DECIDES TO DECLINE CALL FROM PRESBYTERY

At the conclusion of the Sunday morning service, Rev. J. Edwin Hemphill announced that he had decided to decline the call extended him recently by the presbytery of Atlanta to the superintendency of its home mission evangelistic work and remain as the pastor of the Pryor street church.

Coming from the First Presbyterian church of Raleigh, N. C., Mr. Hemphill took charge of the work of the Pryor street church two years ago. During his pastorate the Pryor street church has enjoyed the unique position of being the most rapidly growing Presbyterian church in the city, having received more than 100 members each year. There has been a net gain in the membership from 240 to 425, and more than 100 of these members have been received within the past nine months.

Mr. Hemphill was recently called by the presbytery of Atlanta to the superintendency of home missions and evangelism, and tendered his resignation to the Pryor street church with a view to accepting the call of the presbytery. The church unanimously declined to accept his resignation.

U. S. SENATOR CLARKE PASSES INTO BEYOND

Little Rock, Ark., October 1.—Senator James P. Clarke, of Arkansas, president pro tempore of the United States senate, died at his home here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Senator Clarke suffered a stroke of apoplexy Friday and never regained consciousness.

Senator Clarke first complained of feeling ill when he returned to his home from his office last Wednesday, but it was thought at the time that he was suffering from indigestion, and his illness was not regarded as serious. His indisposition continued Thursday and Friday, however, and late Friday the stroke of apoplexy occurred. News of his death came as a shock, as it was not generally known until today that his condition was serious.

Senator Clarke was born at Yazoo City, Miss., August 18, 1854. He was educated in the schools of his native state and in 1878 graduated from the law department of the University of Virginia. He began the practice of law in Helena, Ark., in 1879. In 1886 he was elected to the lower house of the Arkansas legislature, served through the session of 1887, and in 1888 was elected to the state senate, where he served until 1892. He was elected president of the senate in 1891. He was elected attorney general of the state in 1892 and governor in 1894.

He declined renomination for governor for a second term and resumed the practice of law in Little Rock. In 1903 he was elected United States senator and re-elected last year for his third term. He was elected president pro tem. of the senate in 1913 and re-elected in 1915. His present term as United States senator would not have expired until March 4, 1921.

Senator Clarke was married in Helena November 15, 1883, to Miss Sallie Moore, who, with a son and two daughters, survives.

Announcement was made tonight that the funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon. Burial will be in Oak Lawn cemetery here.

Governor George Hays announced tonight that he will issue a proclamation tomorrow ordering all state departments closed the afternoon of the funeral.

"Senator Clarke was one of the nation's great leaders," said Governor Hays. "The state and country has sustained a great loss."

CLARKE OFTEN OPPOSED DEMOCRATIC MEASURES.

Washington, October 1.—Senator Clarke had been president pro tempore of the senate since the democratic party gained control in 1913. He was chosen by the party caucus to succeed the late Senator Frye, of Maine, after a spirited contest, and was re-elected to the place in the sixty-fourth congress despite determined opposition based on his sensational revolt against the administration ship purchase bill in the previous congress.

Senator Clarke left Washington a few weeks ago apparently in good health. In the closing days of the last session he presided over the senate, owing to the absence of Vice President Marshall. The railroad eight-hour bill, which prevented the nation-wide strike, was passed with Senator Clarke in the chair, but he was one of two democratic senators to vote against the measure and he refused to sign it. He appointed Senator Hughes as acting president pro tempore when the bill was presented at the presiding officer's chair for signature.

Senator Clarke's revolt against the eight-hour bill was a typical manifestation of a stern independence which characterized his attitude throughout the thirteen years of his senatorial career. He was many times the leader in opposition to measures proposed by his party. The climax of his independence was reached when he led the democratic revolt against the ship purchase bill, which gave new life to the republican filibuster against the measure, and made its passage impossible. When the bill was reproduced during the last session, however, with the government ownership and operation features, to which Senator Clarke objected, revised and modified, he supported it.

The Arkansas senator during the last session again surprised his colleagues when he proposed the amendment to the Philippine bill which would give absolute independence to the islands in four years. The administration indorsed the amendment and it was adopted by the senate.

The house, however, refused to accept it.

Senator Clarke acted for several years as chairman of the important committee on commerce. He also was the ranking democratic member of the foreign relations committee and the committee on military affairs.

Montford Is Released After the Third Trial On Charge of Murder

Wrightsville, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—Ed Montford, tried three times on the charge of murdering Herschel Beacham, member of a prominent family of Dublin, was set free by a jury here about midnight last night.

The jury was out seven hours. The case was tried in this (Johnson) county on a change of venue, the jury panels having been exhausted in the two previous trials in Laurens.

The first trial resulted in a mistrial; the second, in a verdict of guilty, with recommendation, bringing life imprisonment. A new trial was secured.

Montford was charged with having lured Beacham to a lonely spot on the river near Dublin, where he shot him, and, after binding the body with wire and weighting it down with a heavy iron, he is said to have thrown it into the river.

John Gardner, a negro employed in Montford's pressing club, who was arrested, turned state's evidence and implicated Montford, claiming that he had gone to the river with Montford and Beacham, the latter having been lured there on the claim that they were to meet a party from Macon.

Gardner told where a valuable diamond stud which had been taken from Beacham could be found, and it was later recovered by detectives. For several months after his arrest, in September, 1914, Montford was confined in the Bibb county jail.

Chairman Andy King Says He Was on Job On Saturday Night

Replying to a statement in a local paper Sunday arraigning him for not being on the job Saturday night, the statement being attributed to Preston S. Arkwright, head of the street railway company, Andy King, chairman of the police board of commissioners, last night declared he had been done an injustice.

"I saw Mr. Arkwright today about statements attributed to him, in which Mr. Arkwright was placed in the position of attacking me for my conduct of the strike situation on Saturday night.

"Mr. Arkwright denied that he had given any such statement to any newspapermen. He said he had told no one he could not locate me either at my home, police station or my office Saturday night. Harry Atkinson, one of the owners of the railway company, was with me late Saturday night, and can testify as to whether or not I was on the job Saturday night. I did not leave police station until after 1 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Atkinson was there then.

"I was at police barracks until 8 o'clock Saturday night, as I had told Mr. Arkwright, and later went up to Five Points with Chief of Police Mayo to look over the situation."

THREE PERSONS INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

Three Other Occupants of Car Are Unhurt When Car Turns Turtle.

Three persons were injured and three others badly frightened Sunday afternoon when a Ford automobile, driven by Mrs. T. B. Johnson, of 55 Luckie street, turned completely over, while the car was passing into Stewart avenue from Central avenue, near Hapeville.

Those in the car were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Johnson, their son, T. K. Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hart and their baby, all of 55 Luckie street.

T. B. Johnson was badly cut about the face, and Mrs. Johnson and her son were badly bruised. Mr. and Mrs. Hart and the child escaped unhurt.

It is said that Mrs. Johnson was just learning to drive the car, and was driving at a low rate of speed, but that when she reached the corner, somehow, her hand struck the gas throttle, causing the machine to take a sudden leap, and turn completely over, pinning T. K. Johnson underneath.

HEARING ON RATES WILL BE RESUMED MONDAY MORNING

The state railroad commission will this morning resume its hearing upon the petition of the railroads of Georgia for a general revision of the Georgia intrastate freight rates.

Merrell Callaway, chief counsel for the railroads, has announced the following list of special commodity rates to be taken up:

Monday, October 2—Naval stores, tar or pitch, rosin, rosin dross, turpentine; turpentine cups; starch; rice (CL and LCL); soap (CL and LCL).

Tuesday, October 3—Sugar (CL and LCL); salt; food preparations; sods; canned goods; pickles.

Wednesday, October 4—Packing house products; meats, fresh; meats, cured.

Thursday, October 5—Lard compounds and cooking oil.

Friday, October 6—Ice and lime; bagging; ties (CL and LCL).

BOLL WEEVIL MEETINGS TO BE HELD THIS MONTH

State Board of Entomology Announces Dates and Towns for Gatherings.

The state board of entomology will hold a series of boll weevil meetings during October in counties in south and southwest Georgia infested by the weevil, and in which recent meetings have not been held.

The importance of this work is stressed by the fact that the weevil has recently been found in Evans county, near Claxton, or within about 47 miles of the Savannah river. It has also been discovered in Forsyth and Bibb counties and at various points along the line of the Southern railway from Macon to Brunswick.

The first of the present series of meetings will be held at LaGrange, Troup county, Tuesday, October 3. This will be followed by meetings at Greenville, Meriwether county, October 4; Hamilton, Harris county, October 5; Talbotton, Talbot county, October 6; Butler, Taylor county, October 7. There will be twenty-three of these meetings in all during October, and the other points at which they will be held include Montezuma, Ellaville, Americus, Leesburg, Ashburn, Moultrie, Quitman, Valdosta, Homerville, Nashville, Tifton, Ocilla, Sylvester, Cordele, Vienna, Newnan, Franklin and Carrollton.

It has been demonstrated that by following certain well-known plans and methods a good cotton crop can be made in spite of the weevil, but these methods must be carefully and rigidly pursued.

These meetings will be attended by representatives of the state board of entomology, state department of agriculture.

The Sea Island cotton situation just now presents the most serious difficulty to be overcome in connection with the invasion of the weevil. Unless an early maturing variety of Sea Island cotton can be developed it is feared the industry will be practically destroyed. The board of entomology is now experimenting with some twenty-eight varieties near Valdosta.

BAPTIST TABERNACLE MAY CALL DR. NORRIS

Pulpit Committee Will Hold Important Meeting at the Church Tonight.

At the meeting of the pulpit committee of the Baptist Tabernacle tonight it is likely that an invitation will be given Dr. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, Texas, to become pastor of the church. Dr. Norris preached at both services Sunday and created a profound impression on the members of the church.

Dr. Joseph Broughton, chairman of the pulpit committee, stated over the phone last night that while the committee had taken no action as yet, that personally he believed Dr. Norris is the man they are looking for to succeed Dr. Broughton, and that other members of the committee are equally impressed with him.

Despite the street car strike, which made it inconvenient for many to attend church Sunday, the Tabernacle was crowded at both services. Dr. Norris Sunday night reviewed his crusade against vice in Fort Worth. He told of the days there when, because he was leading the fight on the saloons and restricted districts, his life was endangered. He told of unsuccessful attempts to besmirch his name, of the burning of his church and his subsequent arrest on a warrant charging him with arson and of his acquittal when tried.

Dr. Norris is pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth. He is an aggressive leader and has been dubbed "The Fighting Parson" by the Fort Worth newspapers. He is a young man and is a warm friend of Dr. Broughton, the former pastor of the Tabernacle.

Dr. Norris will remain in Atlanta until Thursday. He will conduct the Wednesday night prayer services at the Tabernacle.

Court to Convene.

Bainbridge, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—An adjourned term of the Grady county superior court is to be held this week at Cairo, with Judge E. E. Cox presiding. Chief interest centers in the trial of Sam P. Cain and E. M. Smith in connection with the Whigham bank failure. Two convictions have already resulted from this noted case.

PROMINENT MAN SHOT IN CROWDED STORE

C. M. Childs Is Dead as the Result of Pistol Shots Fired by J. R. Estes at Newborn.

Newborn, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) C. M. Childs, a prominent resident of Newborn, died at noon today, following a shooting affray which occurred Saturday night with J. R. Estes, another prominent local resident. The men had an argument of some sort, and Estes fired several times, five bullets taking effect in the body of his adversary.

The shooting occurred in the store of B. M. Whitten, and in the presence of a number of persons. Many conflicting statements have been made as to the cause of the affray, but Childs stated to a Constitution representative that he spoke to Estes, telling him to forget a previous difficulty, and suggesting that they become friends.

"Then," the wounded man stated, "Estes cursed me and began shooting, demanding an apology from me."

It is stated that Childs was armed, but that his gun had not been fired.

There is a great deal of excitement here because of the prominent standing of the two men. Estes was immediately placed under arrest and lodged in the Covington jail.

Childs is survived by his wife and six children; one brother, O. L. Childs; one sister, Mrs. J. L. Harwell, of Newborn, and his father, W. W. Childs, of Covington. The funeral and interment will be held at Newborn Monday, at 2 o'clock.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE ON WASHINGTON STREET

A Ford, driven by C. W. Flannigan, of 186 Crew street, collided with a car driven by Harold Wallace, aged 20, and owned by S. E. Leathers, of 126 Washington street, at the corner of Fair and Washington street Sunday night about 7 o'clock.

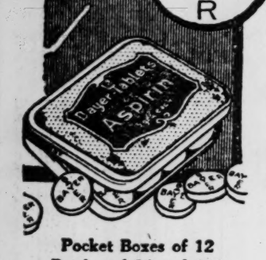

It is said the car driven by Wallace had backed into Fair street and suddenly ran into Washington, colliding with the Flannigan car, which was going south on Washington street.

A. H. King and C. C. Clarke, of 33 Fairview avenue, occupants of the Flannigan car, escaped injury, with the exception of a few bruises sustained by Clarke.

Flannigan's car was badly damaged.

Enthusiastic Meetings Held by Loyal Car Employees and by Strikers Sunday

ORDER MAINTAINED, DECLARES POLLARD

Strike Leader Asserts the Police Have Done Their Duty—Says There Are Now 700 Men in the Car Men's Union.

"The cry of car company officials of insufficient police protection is all bosh," said William Pollard, car men strike organizer, last night.

"Police officials have maintained the best order I have seen in my twenty years of car strike experience. Their attitude has been impartial and neutral. I have seen men shot to pieces around me in other car strikes. In Atlanta there has not been so much as a fight.

"The 'insufficient protection' cry of the car company officials is a weak excuse to the public for the non-operation of street cars, and a virtual admission of defeat. The car company can't operate its cars because we've got the men in our union.

"Cry of Car Company."

"Car company officials are putting up the cry of 'insufficient protection' for two reasons:

"First—excuse to public to conceal weakness.

"Second—to coerce police authorities into extending them favors.

"We have asked no favors of the police. We asked them to enforce the law. That they have done this is shown in the perfect order that has been kept. They have ridden their horses onto the sidewalks to disperse the crowds.

"There has been no fighting between our men and the non-striking employees. It has been our policy to counsel 'peace.' We informed Chief Mayo if he wanted one of our men we would produce him much more quickly than his men could probably locate him.

"Peace will be maintained in the Atlanta strike because our plans have been laid along these lines.

"700 Men in Union."

When asked how many men had quit their jobs with the car company, Mr. Pollard replied:

"We have 75 per cent of the conductors and motormen out. We have not less than 700 men in our union. Sunday we gained considerable strength.

"We are in this fight to win, and the public needn't be fooled by any statements issued by the street car officials. We've got them whipped already."

Mr. Pollard stated that the car men strikers would probably hold a parade today.

He also stated that other unions are beginning to get behind the car men strike movement. Several unions, he said, have passed the order that their members do not ride on any cars. These resolutions are being turned over to Mr. Pollard.

ALEX SMITH DISCUSSES CAR EMPLOYEES' STRIKE

When Man Quits Job, Another Man Has Perfect Right to Take It, He Says.

The law-abiding citizens are duty-bound to see to it that the constitutional right of one man to take another man's job when that man quits is preserved, is the gist of a statement furnished last night by Alex W. Smith to The Constitution.

Mr. Smith interestingly reviews the constitutional aspects of the car men's strike as follows:

"Editor Constitution—As I have no occasion to seek votes, there is no reason why I can't speak my mind about some of the occurrences you report as happening last night.

"There is one thing more important than the result of any strike, though it threatened to tie up the railroads of the whole country, and that is the preservation of the constitutional rights of the citizen.

"A man may have the right, individually to quit his job. Otherwise the constitutional prohibition of involuntary servitude would be violated, so another man may lawfully take that job. Otherwise the constitutional guaranty of personal liberty is overthrown. One of these rights is as important as the other, and the maintenance of the integrity of both is the highest function of government.

"Therefore, the man who has quit the conductor's place and uses force to prevent the other fellow from taking it offends as seriously as the highwayman who takes his wages away from him. Yet that is what is reported to have been done last night under the blaze of the white way in the heart of the city.

"If the constituted authorities cannot or will not prevent it, all law-abiding citizens are in duty bound to form the posse comitatus and come to the rescue just as surely as it is incumbent to assist in stopping a conflagration which has gotten beyond the control of the fire department. Otherwise all will be destroyed in the end. Respectfully, ALEX W. SMITH.

GILBREATH RESIGNS GOOD ROADS PLACE

Former Field Secretary of Dixie Highway Association May Become Secretary of Detroit Auto Club.

Chattanooga, Tenn., October 1.—(Special.)—W. S. Gilbreath, field secretary of the Dixie Highway association practically since its organization, has resigned, according to an announcement from the headquarters of the association made public here today.

While Mr. Gilbreath has made no statement for publication as to his plans, it is understood here that he will accept an offer to become the secretary of the Detroit Automobile club.

Mr. Gilbreath was secretary of the Indianapolis Motor club prior to becoming field secretary of the Dixie Highway association.

Mr. Gilbreath was intimately connected with the work which resulted in the promotion of the Lincoln highway from New York to the west coast, and he has been a prime mover in the Dixie highway idea.

The Dixie Highway association and the highway which this association has built from the Great Lakes to Florida are the direct outgrowth of a suggestion originated by Carl Fisher, of Indianapolis, and given publication and prominence by Mr. Gilbreath when, as secretary of the Indianapolis Motor club, he attended the meeting of the American road congress in Atlanta in the fall of 1914. Mr. Gilbreath took up his idea of a trunk highway from Chicago to Miami with Ivan E. Allen, Fred Houser and others of the city of Atlanta, with the result that it was decided to undertake to build this highway. The Dixie Highway association was subsequently organized in this city and in April, 1915, Mr. Gilbreath accepted the field secretaryship of the organization.

Mr. Gilbreath has been over the entire length of the Dixie highway from Mackinac, Mich., to Miami, Fla., a number of times, and has been largely instrumental in arousing enthusiasm, raising money and inducing work upon this great trunk line road. Throughout the entire south he has made innumerable friends.

The Dixie Highway association reports that during the close personal attention of Mr. Gilbreath to the Dixie highway more than $12,000,000 has been spent or made available for construction work on the eastern and western divisions of the Dixie highway from the Straits of Mackinac to the Florida coast.

13 PERSONS KILLED AND 23 ARE INJURED

Detroit, Mich., October 1.—Thirteen persons were killed and more than twenty-five injured, several probably fatally, late tonight when a switch engine pushing two freight cars crashed into a crowded trolley car at Forest avenue and Dequinder street, on the east side. There were more than ninety persons in the street car, many of them returning from the theaters.

The street car was struck almost in the center, the impact pushing it from the tracks and sliding it alongside of the freight cars.

Panic-stricken passengers began jumping from both the front and rear doors and climbing through windows. Most of the dead were killed by jumping from the car and falling under the wheels of the still moving freight cars.

Tonight's accident is the third of a similar nature here in the last year and the second to occur at the Forest avenue crossing.

DELEGATE TO STATE CONVENTION TALKS

Lloyd B. Jones, Auditor for L. & N. Railroad, Says He Gained 10 Pounds on Tanlac — Troubles Are Overcome.

Lloyd B. Jones, of Clarkston, Ga., auditor of the L. & N. railroad and a delegate to the recent state democratic convention at Macon, made the following interesting statement last week regarding the benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac:

"I find Tanlac a wonderful system and flesh builder. Two bottles of the medicine have increased my weight ten pounds and I attribute my present good health to its use. I suffered from indigestion and was in a general run-down condition for six months. I had trouble with nearly everything I would eat and could never eat a hearty meal and enjoy it. I had a dull pain in the stomach most of the time and was troubled a great deal by the formation of gas. This condition caused me much distress and made me very nervous. I suffered with constipation and dizziness and would feel so bad at times I would have to give up my duties for the time being. I could get no restful sleep and would wake up in the mornings feeling tired and all worn out. I was weak nearly all the time and had a steady loss in weight until it began to alarm me.

"After taking my first bottle of Tanlac I could tell there was a marked improvement in my condition. My appetite got much better and I could enjoy a meal and not feel bad afterward. My headaches are all gone now and I don't suffer with constipation and dizziness at all. I'm not nervous like I was, and I can get a good night's sleep and wake up in the mornings feeling refreshed. I'm a great deal stronger and have more energy and can look after my duties without getting tired like I did. Tanlac seemed to go straight to the bottom of my troubles and began building me up at once. It run my weight up ten pounds in so short a time it is really remarkable. Yes, sir, I can now conscientiously recommend Tanlac because I have tried it, and I have done so to many of my friends. I think it is just the right thing for indigestion and for anyone who is in a weak, run-down, nervous condition."

LARGE CROWD VISITS LAKEWOOD GROUNDS

Over 5,000 People Present Despite Car Strike—Fancy Sheep Coming--Many Fine Free Attractions.

In spite of the lack of car service caused by the operators' strike, the crowds at the Southeastern fair grounds yesterday afternoon measured up well with any for one day since the work started. Several thousand people visited the grounds. The crowd was variously estimated at from 5,000 to 10,000 people.

A progressive taxicab concern pressed two huge sightseeing cars into service on the Lakewood line. These were operated as frequently as possible between Five Points and the grounds. Every car carried capacity.

Hundreds of automobiles hurried back and forth. Many were parked on the grounds while owners and friends strolled through the park and inspected the buildings and the grand circuit race track.

Visitors at the grounds were given a better idea of the magnitude of the fair, which will be held October 14-21, than at any previous time.

Many Hippodrome Acts.

The daily race and horse show program at the Southeastern fair will be interspersed with vaudeville and hippodrome acts by six strong aggregations of performers. The contract for these entertainers has just been closed. These acts will give the fair an unusually large number of free attractions.

The Grand Circuit races will be held each afternoon, beginning Monday, October 16. Between each of the events a free exhibition will be staged. During the intermissions, while the horse show is in progress in the evenings, the performances will be repeated.

Foremost among the free attractions is Ed Hutchison, booked as the world's most daring aeronautic engineer. The "human bomb" act is a daring feat. Hutchison envelopes himself in a bomb attached to a balloon and ascends to a half-mile height. The bomb explodes, Hutchison is shot from it like a projectile. Suddenly his parachute opens and glides gracefully to the ground.

Duttons Recommended.

An act strongly recommended by R. M. Striplin, secretary of the fair association is that of the Duttons. The Duttons are trick riders and drivers.

Lakewood furnishes unusual opportunity for Lottie Mayer and her five diving nymphs to perform. This company of fancy divers and swimmers will give a series of exhibitions from the diving platform in the lake.

The Marco Twins will provide the laughs for fair crowds. This team will be seen in a series of clown acrobatic stunts staged on the hippodrome platform.

A striking contrast with this exhibition will be the act of the Six Flying Lavans, aerial trapeze performers. Nettie Carroll, novelty wire walker, will be seen with a troup of performers in an act that is different.

This completes the list of free attractions for the fair. There will be an abundance of amusements in Larkland. In fact, the Old Dominion shows carry twenty attractions. Mr. Striplin saw this outfit at the Tennessee state fair and was well pleased with the character of the shows.

The entries in all of the departments are coming in from all sections of the country. Among those in the cattle and swine shows are some of the prize winners in the Nebraska and Ohio fairs, in addition to the entire American Royal Live Stock show from Kansas City and the Omaha swine show.

Fancy Sheep Coming.

If the high price of sheep, mutton and wool have anything to do with making a good sheep show, then this department of the first annual fair of the Southeastern Fair association is going to be a corker.

The prospects are the country's best will be on display at the fair. Besides the display there will be exhibitions of sheep shearing. It will be in many respects a contrast between the old methods and the new—the slow process of shearing by hand compared with the modern machinery methods.

Premiums aggregating $218 will be given in this department. Many of the ranch owners of the west are planning to bring the best specimens of their flocks to Atlanta, just as the big swine breeders will bring thirty carloads of the best hogs of that great stock-raising section from Omaha. These will be supplemented by displays of the best flocks in the southeast.

The fair association has constructed an ample pavilion upon which the exhibits will be judged.

FARMER GETS BRIDE WITH ADVERTISEMENT

Moultrie, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) Describing himself as a man of "good standing and not bad to look at," M. H. Huey, a well-known Colquitt county farmer, advertised for a wife—and got one. Mr. Huey says that over a hundred women offered to let him lead them blushingly to the altar, but after thoroughly canvassing the situation he decided that Miss Cora Walters, 25 years old, of Oglethorpe, Ga., suited him best. After a brief courtship by mail he went to the Macon county capital and brought her back as his bride. Huey is 53 years old.

YOUNG MAN SURVIVES MERCURY POISONING

Moultrie, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) James McLung, the young Moultrie man who swallowed 35 grains of bichloride of mercury a week ago, is out of all danger, according to an announcement made today by his physician. The fact that McLung was reached by a physician in a few minutes after he had taken the poison and the most of it was removed from his system, is given as the reason of his recovery.

He has not stated yet whether he swallowed the mercury in an attempt to end his life or through a mistake.

Autoist Is Injured.

Ashburn, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) C. F. Shingler, of this place, narrowly escaped death last night when his car, driven by John Berry, ran into a stump, throwing Mr. Shingler through the windshield. The broken glass gave him a severe stab over the heart. He was rushed to town for medical attention, where it was found necessary to take about five stitches.

Red-Headed Women Have Puzzled World Since Days of Homer

Red-Headed Star of "Only Girl" Inspires Press Agent Into Wishing Volcanic Eruption of Praise Over on City Editor.

Well, another of the "good old axioms," as Booth Tarkington's Penrod will say when he grows up, will be punctured and made to run on a flat wheel when pretty Lydia Crane of "The Only Girl" musical comedy company comes to town at the Atlanta Thursday, for while she plays the part of a red-headed spitfire, of such beauty as—well, that's ahead of the story—she doesn't think red-headed girls so bad after all.

And as the question of the temper of red-headed girls is and has been

since B. C. one of the most vital with which history has dealt, and has been covered by almost everything from a Homeric jingle down to and nearly approaching an act of congress, it is well to quote the young lady verbatim, seriatim, ad infra, and directly on this important subject. So here's at it; sic 'em:

"All this bull—pardon me—all this talk—about a red-headed girl having a temper is the dream of a professional mountain climbing guide. It is from the mists of an experience which has been effected by the altitude, as it was—were. An ill-tempered red-headed girl—you say—tut, tut, scribe—there ain't no such animule, and leave it to me, Virgil, to prove it.

"When I was a child of three, and that isn't so long ago that Theodore Roosevelt can't remember it, I recall, that is to say, I've been told since—I had a sister older than me—I, who was red-headed. Now, as far as the popular opinion of the sweetness of the tempers of blondes goes, this young lady just missed showing ochre through the prism. She had as sweet a temper as one might desire Cleopatra to have had with Marc, so sweet that she was willing to wash and wipe the breakfast dishes without being asked.

"But—there were boys in the neighborhood, and my sister's disposition suffered until she developed a temper. 'Rusty Head' and 'Carrots' were simple designations, and the old white horse gag—anecdote, I mean—did not in the least upset her progressive euchre speed. She did not even bat an eye; that is to say, wink, when some youngster called her, who had the complexion of a shop girl's dream, 'Freckles.' No, nothing counted; that is, nothing in particular. It was the constant dingding of the thing that got her—irritated her, and finally she became a red-headed vampire, married a man, and made him stop drinking and forced him to wear the neckties she selected. And all of this leads up to the opinion I wish to explain.

Red-Headed Girls Born Sweet.

"A red-headed girl is born sweet, but is soured sometimes by the constant nagging of the boys in the neighborhood. With them it is a form of making love. To the girl it becomes an annoyance, an irritation, and finally a hell. We will not quote statistics, but I think you will find a larger proportion of red-headed girls married and beating their husbands than any other coloring—they are driven to it by constant nagging from the time of the first stroll with nursie to their debut and consequent marriage. That was the fate of my poor sister. But she paid for it. It seems a cruel adjustment of the affairs of life, this paying for it with just the same sort of ammunition used—a retroactive revenge, a parallel recompense—all of my sister's daughters are red-headed."

Now, whether or not this point of view, as explained by the pretty Miss Crane, is a more personal one than that which came from sister's experience, will be as big a problem as it is in the play. For the lovely red-headed Mrs. Ayre of "The Only Girl" story has luxuriant red hair, and Miss Crane has to impersonate her. Also the vital question developed in the run of the story of the play is whether Mrs. Ayre has real hair or wears a wig. Thus one has a double-dyed question to solve in Siamesic proximity. On one cornu or horn of the question is the reality of the hair of Miss Crane who plays the part, and on the dramatic end is the wiggishness of the hair of Mrs. Ayre.

To find out, see for yourself when the famous musical comedy gets here. In all other elements it is worth while. One of the cleverest features of it is the charmingly unique manner and the ingenuously natural fashion of the interpolation of the musical members. But at such things Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom have long been masters.

HENRY KARWISCH DIES FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Atlanta Pioneer Came Here to Make Home Immediately After Civil War.

Henry Karwisch, 76 years old, an Atlanta pioneer, and for years a successful and leading business man of the city, died yesterday morning at his home, 175 Kirkwood avenue, Inman Park.

Mr. Karwisch's death was due to an accident a few days ago in which he sustained a fracture of two or three ribs, and which he was unable to overcome because of his advanced age.

A quarter of a century ago few Atlanta business men were more widely known or more universally respected than Henry Karwisch. He was of that school whose obligations were religiously kept, and whose reputation he always considered a sacred trust.

A native of Germany, Mr. Karwisch came to America during the civil war and entered the service of the United States. An expert baker by trade, he was attached to Sherman's army as it came south, and was at Chattanooga when the war closed.

In 1865 he came to Atlanta, and has since been one of its most loyal citizens.

Mr. Karwisch is survived by two sons, B. H. Karwisch and John Karwisch, both successful Atlanta business men; one brother, B. Karwisch, and three half-brothers, John Hackman of Atlanta; Henry Hackman of Ferdinand, Ind., and Joe Hackman of Bellville, Ill.

Henry Karwisch was president of the Atlanta Hibernian Benevolent association, one of the oldest organizations of that kind in Atlanta, also a long-time member of the Atlanta Turn Verein. He was the last chief of the Atlanta volunteer fire department, having been for years a member of Mechanics' fire company No. 2. The surviving members of the volunteer fire department will act as an honorary escort at his funeral, while the Turn Verein and the Hibernians will also be among the honorary escort.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, of which he had long been a faithful member, with Father Kennedy officiating. Interment in the family lot at Oakland.

2-YEAR-OLD GIRL FALLS INTO A TUB AND DROWNS SUNDAY

Mary Norma Tedards, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tedards, of Hapeville, was drowned yesterday by falling into a tub of water.

The family had visitors and the little girl was left alone for about twenty minutes, and when her mother went to look for her she was found in the tub of water. Physicians were called immediately and efforts to revive her were made with a pulmotor, but without avail.

The body was removed to the chapel of Greenberg & Bond, and will probably be carried to North Carolina for funeral and interment.

GEORGIA WOMEN COME TO AID OF DEMOCRATS

Mrs. Emma T. Martin, who has been appointed by John D. Walker, chairman of the finance committee for Georgia, and a member of the democratic national committee, to raise funds from among the women of Georgia to help elect the national democratic ticket, reported yesterday that the first day after accepting the commission—last Saturday—she had received $26.

Most of this was in the form of dollar contributions, said Mrs. Martin, and came from Atlantans exclusively, as she had had no time to organize the work outside of the city. This she will do, however, at once.

FOOTBALL VICTIM IS BURIED AT WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) This afternoon at the First Methodist church the funeral service of Palmer Bosworth, who died Friday from injuries received in a football game here, was held. The Boy Scouts of the city, with whom Palmer was playing when he was injured, attended the funeral in a body, as did the students of Piedmont institute. Interment was at Oakland cemetery.

Besides his mother, Mrs. W. J. Eve, of Tampa, Fla., the young man is survived by three aunts, Mrs. Grace Royer and Mrs. Harley Tyre, of Waycross, and Mrs. C. A. Holtzendorf, of Fitzgerald, and one uncle, Clarence Beck, of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mission Workers Meet.

Waycross, Ga., October 1.—The Woman's Baptist Missionary union of the Piedmont association will convene in Waycross, Wednesday, for a two-day session. The evening exercises will be conducted by the young people. Quite a number of delegates will be here for the meeting, for which an interesting program has been prepared.

Georgia Artillery Is Ready to Move To Border Tuesday

Array of Cannon Faces the Plaza of General, Awaiting Departure of Troop Trains for El Paso.

By Frank Craigie.

Camp Harris, Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—The general's plaza this afternoon looks like the front yard of a Central American president's palace during a popular election! It is hemmed in with cannon. Every piece of field artillery belonging to the national guard of Georgia stands there, dull, gray and foreboding.

In the camp siding are the baggage cars, the kitchen cars, the box and flat cars for the moving of the first section. Somewhere, at the very fingers' ends of Smith, M. B., the A. R. A. train magician, are the Pullman and tourist cars for officers and men. On the hillside, where the artillery battalion's tents still stand, a field of dried grass, of sand deeply rutted with wheels of cannon and caisson, marks the spot where the guns have spent the summer. By Tuesday the tents will go, and the men.

For the eastern department has directed the artillery to proceed to the border, and now even the doubting ones have hopes of seeing El Paso at the government's expense.

This afternoon's dress parade was that of the Fifth regiment, and it passed in review under the eyes of its commander, and between rows of thousands of visitors, with the guns of battery B ranged along its right flank. No one can guess where or in what place the two Atlanta organizations will touch again, but the fact remains that in time of peace they will shout for each other, and in time of war will help each other out of any hole that an adroit enemy may dig for them.

The try-out shoot at the Holton rifle range for the choice of contestants in the matches at Jacksonville, Fla., beginning October 11, was concluded Saturday. Under the direction of the war department this state team will proceed to the Florida range and will there enter the contests, rejoining their regiments and troops wherever they may then be encamped. The line-up of the state team is as follows:

Team captain, Major W. T. Spratt, Jr., ordnance department; team coach, Captain H. H. Aveihle, adjutant First infantry; team spotter, Captain R. B. Sullivan, Company I, First infantry. With the team will be detailed a range officer, not yet selected. The team surgeon will be Captain Mark Pentecost, M. C., Fifth infantry. Cook H. V. Edward, of Company H, of the Fifth, will take care of the appetites of the team.

The officers and enlisted men who qualified on the Holton range in the state shoot ending Saturday afternoon are as follows:

Color Sergeant Charles D. Barker, headquarters company, Fifth infantry, 606; Second Lieutenant W. R. Browne, Company C, Fifth infantry, 567; First Sergeant H. P. Ferris, Troop K, Second squadron cavalry, 562; First Sergeant Thomas L. Starnes, Troop L, Second squadron cavalry, 562; Sergeant Howard M. Beck, Company H, Fifth infantry, 561; First Lieutenant W. A. Howland, Company K, First infantry, 559; First Lieutenant Landon Thomas, Company B, First infantry, 553; Sergeant W. D. Williams, Company K, First infantry, 553; Sergeant Joseph Avans, Company A, Fifth infantry, 548; First Lieutenant A. S. Brown, Company B, Second infantry, 538; Captain A. W. Candler, Company C, Fifth infantry, 536; First Sergeant W. M. Murphy, Company B, Second infantry, 535; Sergeant C. L. Quinn, Company H, Fifth infantry, 534; Captain George Haines, Company D, First infantry, 530; Sergeant Alfred Marshall, Troop A, Second squadron cavalry, 526; Second Lieutenant J. W. Armstrong, Company K, Second infantry, 522.

Of these, a team of twelve men, with four alternates, will compete in the national team match.

The Fifth's overcoats came into camp this morning, and were issued to the men, who are now well equipped for the autumn weather.

Succumbs to Burns.

Waycross, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) According to a belated report received here from Bacon county, Tom Stewart, who lives five miles northwest of Alma, died Saturday from burns received a month ago, when a lamp exploded. Mr. Stewart was in bed at the time of the explosion, the lamp being on a table nearby. He was one of the county's most progressive young farmers and had a wide circle of friends through this section. Besides his wife one child survives.

Owning a "Jitney" Proves Profitable During Car Strike

Cars Do Rushing Business All Day Sunday After Trolley Service Is Stopped by Order of Railway Officials.

Sunday proved a "field day" for the "jitney" men of Atlanta. Taking advantage of the street car tie-up, the bus owners immediately became active in the transportation game. The buses were in service and fairly coining money Saturday evening and early Sunday morning they were on the streets in great numbers and remained busy throughout the day.

Late Saturday night the directors of the Atlanta Jitney Bus association held a meeting at the association's headquarters, 920-6 Empire building, when plans were made to care for the traffic as nearly as possible during the interval between now and when trolley traffic shall be resumed.

Leonard J. Grossman, counsel for the association, issued a statement in which he said that "Atlanta's people will be well cared for by the jitney bus on Monday.

"The strike means that the hour of the jitney bus has struck. The jitney men will arise to the occasion, and they are here to stay."

At the meeting Saturday night a resolution praising the work of the police and Chief Mayo was passed by the jitney owners.

TO CHIEF MAYO.

With the contention between the street railway company and those who are at issue with it, The Constitution has nothing to do.

But in behalf of the maintenance of the peace and order of the city and the enforcement of its laws, The Constitution reflects the overwhelming sentiment of the city when it says that the police department is charged with a responsibility that cannot be ignored without disgracing the chief, dishonoring the men of the force and humiliating the city.

The police board has given notice of the law and instructed the chief to see that it is enforced. It should not have been necessary for the board to do this.

But with this clear and emphatic citation, Chief Mayo should know his duty and perform it.

The chief declares that he will enforce the law to the letter and that the peace of the city will be protected by his force.

If he does his duty the men, women and children of Atlanta will be protected in their right to ride on the public carrier lines of the city without fear of being molested by interference with the cars carrying them.

If he fails in his manifest duty, the city will demand that someone be put in his place who may be depended upon to protect the public against lawlessness in any form. Indeed the resolutions adopted yesterday by the board declare specifically that such failure would be considered as absolute evidence of inefficiency and insubordination.

Now let the chief do his duty.

THE WRONG WAY.

In a card commending The Constitution's recent editorial taking the federal government to task for its failure to relieve state prohibition laws from the effects of federal nullification, Chairman A. F. Lokey, of the state prohibition party of Alabama, suggests that there is a national prohibition party now in the field, and that this is the weapon with which to strike for federal co-operation in the upholding of state statutes.

Mr. Lokey is right with reference to federal indifference regarding state prohibition laws, but he is wrong as to the remedy.

The most serious obstacle with which the prohibitionists have had to deal in the past is their own ill-advised effort to make a political issue out of a moral question. Prohibition, of course, cannot be kept wholly out of politics; we do not mean that. But the effort to make it the basis of a political, partisan organization does more harm than good to the cause.

If the prohibitionists would organize within party lines—democratic or republican, depending upon the complexion of their state—and make their fight there, they would stand a far better chance of getting somewhere.

Let's take the situation in Georgia, for example. Georgia is a democratic state. There are reasons, and very good reasons, too, why it is going to remain democratic. The majority sentiment of Georgia voters is for prohibition. But it has been proven time and again that they are not going to desert the democratic party for prohibition alone. There are other big and important things the country has got to think about and to deal with.

We know this from experience, and upon the same basis we may predict it for the future. Therefore, if the prohibitionists seek quick results so far as Georgia is concerned, they must make their fight within democratic lines and win there.

And by acting within party lines, through competent organization, they can come pretty near getting what they want. Let us say that Georgia is opposed to federal nullification of state prohibition laws, as we confidently believe it is. Suppose the prohibitionists in each congressional district should organize and put it up to the candidates for congress that they would no longer stand for this sort of treatment on the part of the federal government.

If this were done, every candidate for congress would, in a twinkling, declare himself for the closing of the United States mails to liquor solicitation. He would take no chances against such organization as the prohibitionists could thus bring to bear.

What Georgia prohibitionists could easily do in this direction, if they would, could as well be done by those of every other state in the union.

The political history of the United States has long since proven the fallacy of independent political organization which weakens, rather than strengthens, the cause.

"IMAGINARY HUSBANDS."

From time immemorial women with fine faith in humanity have taken chances at marrying men to reform them, and in instances, not too numerous to mention, their faith has been rewarded.

But "How would you manage home and husband when in possession of both?" is a question preliminary to a more practical matrimonial beginning—such question being included in a course of home economics, recently established at Leland Stanford university on this practical plan, as outlined in The Sacramento Bee:

> Each girl takes an imaginary husband, with a stipulated income, furnishes a home for him, feeds him, takes care of imaginary children, settles all domestic problems, and must come out at the end of the course on the right side of the balance sheet. They are being taught to live within an average income and to live wisely.

This method of domestic education has given rise to curious comment, that of a woman's journal being that acting as general manager for an "imaginary husband" is so different from satisfactory housekeeping for "the real goods" that it becomes "a doubtful proposition;" nothwithstanding the fact that there are so many "imaginary husbands" in the world today!

For all these unkind cuts the plan is a good one, for the girl thus instructed in domestic economics will not be permitted to idealize. It will be good household education for her—even though she will have much to learn when "the real goods" clinks the home-gate!

THE WAR-HARVEST.

The London Times tells of the "war-harvest" of the fields of England, and of its meaning to the millions to whom it is bread; the harvest of the only peaceful fields—peaceful, except for the pain in the eyes of the women-reapers, who pause in their tasks and look across those fields to those of the battle-places; pause, as though listening for news of battles. But "there is peace, and sweetness of courage, and long patience" in the harvest fields, and this is what they mean:

> It is the sign and token of the awakening that has come to England since they gathered the last harvest. This England wears now on her face the look which France has worn through two long years, the old wistfulness, conjured by whispering winds since, in the beginning, man shed his blood for a dear land, and woman set herself to fulfill the measure of sacrifice. The winds, indeed, go softly among the trees speaking their message, and softly, in long waves, over the bending wheat ears, and the women who toil in the harvest fields have great comfort of the whispering winds, which are their messengers of hope as well as of sorrow.

The same conditions prevail in the harvest fields of France, where the women are reaping to feed the homes and the fighters at the front—reaping within sound of the war-guns.

With all these patient, toiling women there is but one word: "It is a forgiving God who lets the harvest grow in the warred fields!"

But what did the Germans want with that held-up consignment of false teeth if, as England claims, they have nothing to eat?

Attacking Cleopatra's beauty is about as timely as discussions of the size of the whale that swallowed Jonah.

England is now convinced that Germany has Zeppelins to burn.

The Louisville Courier-Journal sings of what's a-coming: "The price of bread is rising, rising every day. Soon the bars will sell the pretzel and give the beer away."

If only the "lavish gold of autumn" could fill the winter coal bin!

If Kansas has "so many empty jails and asylums," what in the world is she kicking about?

They call Villa's ragged bandits "The 600," and they seem to be making "half a league onward."

Probably the reason Carranza doesn't nab Villa is because he has sworn off from hunting trouble.

Our poets are singin' of "the glory of the trees" when they ought to be splittin' 'em into winter wood; but they take chances at freezin' over the "fire of genius."

The biggest moonshine still of all was captured in Atlanta. What a business we could do if we had that kind in Billville! Though ours are lively, they're little.

Georgia Philosophy.

Jessie Baxter Smith has these paragraphic sermons in The Dalton Citizen:

"My, my, but it is discouraging when the angels walking among us quit singing and go to throwing mud.

"When you shoot into a hole and something yelps, you know you hit something, don't you?

"The birds and the flowers are beautiful, but gazing at them doesn't make the wheels go 'round.

"Some folks can't help getting mad when you rub a little cold truth between their eyes.

"People who don't know how to give and take ought to crawl under the bed and stay there.

"Every noise you hear is not the report of a double-barreled cannon. Sometimes it is just the explosion of a paper bag filled with hot wind.

Owed to Autumn.

The printer-poet of The Dalton Citizen expresses these sentiments in a song entitled "Autumn Intoxication:"

"What delicious feeling
All my being thrills?
Autumn comes a-stealing
With its fuel bills.
What a tonic bracing
For the weary soul,
Just the price a-chasing
For a ton of coal.

"See the sky so hazy,
Lazy, hazy, blue;
Gee! I'm almost crazy
Over taxes due.
Glad fall air's a tonic;
Hope 'twill help a lot,
My complaint is chronic—
Need all autumn's got."

"Forever on the Go!"

In his Houston Post Column, "Tampering With Trifles," Judd Lewis writes of the man "on the go:"

"And so it goes 'neath summer's sun, through winter's drifted snow, man that is born of woman is forever on the go. One seeks the hills, one seeks the plains, one seeks the heaving sea, as restless as a ki-yi that has captured him a flea. And when man gets where he would be, by mountain or by shore, he looks about him for a day then starts to ride some more. And that's what makes the c. of l. so high, it seems to me; these fellows on the Pullman car are not where they should be. They ought to be out in the field clothed in their working duds, a-coaxing radishes to grow and knocking bugs from spuds. You'll notice things are just about as we have put them down—and that will be all for today, we're going out of town!"

Believe State Railroad Should Be Sold and Proceeds Used on State Institutions

Editor Constitution: Let us hope that the state of Georgia is not going into the colossal blunder of building another railroad. The state road was a great burden on the people until it was leased out. If it was dropped by the other roads today and left without connections it would simply have to do local business between Atlanta and Chattanooga. Even if the road could be extended to the coast and profitably run, a government has no right to do business in competition with its own citizens and tax payers. The state road should be sold and the proceeds used in paying debts, and then put our state institutions on a high plane. The insane asylum could be put into good condition to properly care for its inmates, which at present is a disgrace; educational institutions so fitted as to vie with any other of the United States in giving our children useful educations. We would see the citizenship of Georgia built up to a high plane in a short time—a state without lynchings! Isn't that a condition most devoutly to be prayed for?

Yours very truly,

Fears Election for Supreme Court Judge May Result In More Than One Contest

Editor Constitution: I see from the daily press several candidates are spoken of as likely to oppose Justice Gilbert in the November general election to succeed the late Judge Lumpkin of the supreme court, which will have the effect of bringing the supreme court "into politics"—which should, if possible, be avoided.

It was in hopes of keeping the supreme court judgeship "out of politics" that I offered the resolution at the recent convention in Macon to indorse someone for the vacancy and thus prevent a scramble for the office in the general election.

It will be remembered that the Honorable S. G. McLendon was nominated in the convention of 1906 to fill a vacancy in the Georgia railroad commission, even though there had been no primary indorsing him; thus establishing a precedent for a convention to act in cases of emergency.

My purpose in writing this card, however, is not to discuss the wisdom of the action of the Macon convention on this question, but to point out the fact that in the general election for supreme court judges, the law requires a majority of the total vote cast to elect—a mere plurality will not suffice.

The constitution of Georgia, Article 6, Section 1, Paragraph 8 (Code 6505), prescribes "The chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court shall be elected by the people at the same time and in the same manner as the governor, etc."

The law relating to the election of the governor prescribed by the constitution, Article 5, Section 1, Paragraph 5 (Code 6474), is as follows:

"The person having received a majority of the whole number of votes shall be declared duly elected governor of this state; but if no person shall have such majority, then from the two persons having the highest number of votes, who shall be in life and shall not decline an election at the time appointed for the general assembly to elect, the general assembly shall immediately elect a governor viva voce; and in all cases of election of a governor by the general assembly, a majority of the members present shall be necessary to a choice."

Therefore, should several candidates run in the November general election, the result likely would be no one would receive a majority. The legislature would then have to select a justice from the two persons having the highest number of votes. This means two political contests, one before the people in November, and the other before the legislature next July. This certainly would be bringing the supreme court "into politics," a thing which should be avoided if possible.

Prohibition Leader Thinks Separate Party The Way to Win

Editor Constitution: Your editorial titled "Liquor and the Mails" reaches the very heart of the prohibition question.

In order that those who chanced not to read your very able editorial may understand me, I begin by giving your opening paragraph:

"Down in Ben Hill county Willis Walker is dead and his brother, Jim Walker, is in jail charged with having killed him, after the two had sat around a couple of bottles of liquor which they had just secured from the express office."

Then you call attention to the fact that such occurrences are frequent, that the order for this liquor was solicited by mail, that the order was made by mail and that the shipment was made by express, that such orders are rapidly increasing in Georgia, and that all this is done under the sanction of our federal government.

After referring to the Louisiana lottery, which the federal government killed by denying it the use of the mails and the rights of interstate commerce, you conclude by saying:

"In the matter of prohibition enforcement Georgia, and several other states, would be doing admirably were it not for persistent federal nullification. How long will the federal government permit itself to be placed in in this position?"

Why is our government, which is the agent of the people, now aiding in the debauchery and ruin of our citizens by protecting and even fostering the liquor traffic? Simply because the majority of the temperance people, even the majority of the church people and ministers of the gospel, have been voting for the very evil which your editorial condemns. And if this evil continues, the temperance people will be to blame for it. Many good men have labored for dry counties and dry states and then annulled their good work by voting for a wet nation. But someone says, "How have they done this?" By electing parties to power in the nation that are too cowardly to make any declaration against the traffic in their national platforms. In our country the party in power is the government, and both of the present dominant parties have had ample opportunity to kill the liquor traffic. We need not expect either of them to destroy the traffic so long as they can get the temperance vote without doing so.

How long will the federal government maintain this unholy alliance with strong drink? Until the temperance people refuse to support any party that does not put itself in open hostility to the liquor traffic. A party standing for the national destruction of alcoholic drinks is now in the field and will be on the ballot in nearly every state, and through it the temperance men of the nation have an opportunity of striking the death blow against rum next November.

Tribute to Oglethorpe By Students of the '50's

Editor Constitution: The writer recently again becoming a resident of Atlanta, enjoying such residence previously at intervals 1868-1894, has read with much pleasure the description in the columns of your Sunday, September 24, edition of the opening ceremonies attendant upon Oglethorpe university's re-entrance as a vitalized factor in southern collegiate institutions.

Under the general and courteous invitation extended to Atlanta citizens, I assume under the circumstances recited I would have been at least a unique guest and regret exceedingly my delicate health forbidding outdoor night exposure prevented such pleasure.

Understanding quite well that reminiscence rarely appeals to twentieth century masses, I confine this communication, recalling my student days at old Oglethorpe in 1852-53-54, to tendering tribute to that quartet of eminent scholars endowed with that often rare faculty of imparting instruction to others who long represented the institution—Dr. Samuel K. Talmage, president; Rev. Charles Lane, Rev. R. C. Smith and Dr. James Woodrow. The marvelous mental equipment of these men enabled a college curriculum adapted to a larger college faculty to be employed without modification or with superficiality in all their work, and the many noted graduates going from its portals into the arena of life have borne testimony in religion, law, science, business and the more gracious arts, to this fact.

If the writer in those student days described acquired anything of brevity in stating propositions, clarity in expression, aptness in classical illustration, ability by analysis and synthesis to conduct an argument, he attributes it wholly to the remarkable abilities of these distinguished men. Concurrent with this technical instruction, the social features of life at Oglethorpe were specific and entirely out of the ordinary.

The state capital being in Milledgeville, one mile from Midway, to be an Oglethorpe student was on each Saturday an open sesame to be an honored guest at the governor's receptions, 11 to 2, and how can I sufficiently extol the weekly evening receptions impartially in order to each class by the president's wife, a confirmed invalid, but in her invalid chair receiving students with all the graces of a queen and contributing her rare mental and social accomplishments to the enjoyment of her young visitors.

The writer indulges the hope that the reconstructed Oglethorpe of 1916 may find matter of merit in the by-gone days described, and contribute continuously and permanently to that thoroughness of education and breadth of knowledge that this twentieth century so fully enables.

One Georgia Trucker Who Makes $5,000 Per Annum On 10 Acres of Poor Land

Editor Constitution: I have read with great interest the letters of Messrs. W. L. Williamson and H. G. Hastings in The Constitution of today.

One of the cardinal purposes of the Georgia Land show to be held in Atlanta next January is for the stimulation of truck growing.

May I tell you of a profitable truck farm I visited in Bibb county this summer? Through the courtesy of W. G. Middlebrooks, farm demonstrator of that county, I was shown over a ten-acre truck farm which I consider a conspicuous example of what can be done in Georgia. Before giving you an idea of it I wish to state that the United States government officially declares that there are but nine climatic zones in this country and eight of them are to be found in Georgia. The truck farm I refer to is five miles below Macon, on the Houston road of the Dixie highway, and consists of ten acres in a square, and without disparagement to the owner I must say it is the very poorest piece of land I ever saw; but notwithstanding that, over five thousand dollars were made, net, off it in 1915, and when I first visited it this summer the owner was just picking the last of the strawberry crop of which he told me he had sold over $600 worth from one acre.

The farm has an overhead system of irrigation. He constructed the system himself with the aid of his hired help. The "plant" consists of a second-hand 50-horsepower gasoline engine, a sort of reservoir dug beside the branch in which flows a small stream from a very small spring. The reservoir is merely a large hole in the ground not even cemented. In this he pumps a sufficient supply of water in case of drouth. Rows of piping are set fifty feet apart paralleling each other, small holes are drilled in the tops of the pipe about 20 inches apart. Each row has two valves so that water may be turned off or on whichever section is to be watered or to remain dry. Of course when there is sufficient rainfall the system is not necessary, but by it the crops are sure of water whenever needed.

Just as fast as one crop is gathered another one is put in. The knowledge of rotation of crops is necessary, but any good farmer is likely to be posted on that, or, if not, the seedmen will tell him. This farmer sells his crops on the field to hucksters. Sometimes they go into a particular patch and make a bid for the entire lot as it stands and do the gathering themselves. All the vegetables are washed and dried on small platforms by the side of the branch. I was told that this irrigation system cost one-third more than it should have because it was not let to a contractor.

Now, Mr. Editor, if Mr. Whitehead, the owner of the above, can get over $5,000 per annum on his ten acres of poor land, what can be done on the thousands of places all over Georgia that are ten times as fertile as his? The hotels of Atlanta and other cities in the state would be delighted to get more fresh home-grown vegetables and stand ready to pay the top of the market, and it only remains for truckers to get a line on when to plant crops that will mature at just such times as will leave no "gap" in the seasons between very early spring and late fall.

Dr. W. A. Lee Writes On "The New Atlanta And Segregated Vice"

Editor Constitution: There is probably little real danger of a relapse to former "red light" conditions in Atlanta. Already The Constitution has voiced its protest. Doubtless, too, if the matter were to become an issue in the community our other papers would fall into line. Certainly the churches would fight such a proposal. And there can be little doubt as to where the mayor-elect would stand regarding a thing so palpably retrogressive.

Nevertheless, there are certain aspects of segregation which it will do the community no harm to ponder at this time.

Segregation notoriously fails to segregate. It merely succeeds in grouping the worst offenders. Those who ply their trade quietly, less openly, are still bound to be scattered throughout the city's area. They refuse to become residents of the segregated district if for no other reason than financial. The "decent women and girls," concerning whom the advocates of segregation profess a solicitude which impels them to suggest the change they do, would, accordingly, still be thrown in contact with immoral women to the extent of having them in decent neighborhoods. This is the uniform experience of Chicago, St. Louis, Paris and all other cities that have experimented in segregation.

The sanctioning of a segregated area by any city vastly complicates the problem of safeguarding that city's health. The medical profession is now substantially agreed in the opinion that commercialized vice, which segregation invariably encourages and promotes, so seriously aggravates the spread of all manner of venereal disease as to render effectual control of those ailments impossible so long as a city permits commercialized vice. Nor is there any protection in systems of license or certification, whether applied to houses as houses or to individual occupants. These have utterly failed all but the world around.

Segregation puts a premium on lawlessness. It cannot do otherwise. The thing itself is established in a tacit nullification of existing law. It may not, therefore, do other than promote the thing that creates and sustains it. And, insofar as its attitude towards law and order is concerned, precisely that has been the unbroken record of segregation wherever it has existed. Police corruption in greater or less measure has invariably sprung up. Nor is it strange that it should. A police force is human, and there are limits to the temptations which it can resist, especially when those temptations offer rich financial reward merely for conniving at certain features of a traffic that the city government has agreed to close its eyes to as a whole.

Enforcement of liquor laws especially is made more difficult. Nor does it matter in the least what the nature of that legislation may be. The experience is substantially the same whether the law be lax or stringent. And for a reason that is amply sufficient. Lewdness goes on through the night, and liquor is always its companion. Indeed, it has been estimated that the liquor sold by girls in houses of ill fame lying within the segregated areas of certain cities netted a profit of 250 per cent to the vice trade. Such gains offer too lucrative a revenue to pass unexploited, law or no law. And they would so prove in Atlanta under segregation.

But the worst feature of segregation is its inhumanity. The life of the prostitute is sufficiently tortuous and brief at best. Her career rarely runs over five years, at least after she becomes a minion of commercialized lust. Usually it does not extend beyond three or four. And its days and nights are filled with horrors which truly make her as Lecky has said, "the most mournful and the most awful figure in history, . . . blasted for the sins of the people."

This brevity of her career, made more brief under segregation, renders necessary a constant recruiting of new material. The sources from which these recruits are gathered and the methods used in marshaling them, are among the blackest blots upon the pages of history. Segregation a protection to innocent and decent girls and women? On the contrary, it has begotten and nursed a systematic method of preying upon them that has stretched forth its filthy hands in quest of girls the world over. Let no one delude himself by thinking that the prostitute is such by choice from the first instance. Investigation of thousands of cases in this country and in Europe discloses the fact that but a very small percentage of them are what they are because of individual choice. Most of them have been trapped and coerced until all doors opening upon decency had for them been closed by conventional society.

Moreover, the particular girl sought out by the procurer, who appears as invariably under segregation as warmth comes with summer, is the type of person whom society is doubly bound to protect rather than to beset with added danger. She is young. In 70 per cent of the cases she is but 16 or 17 years of age when she begins her sad career. She is also guileless and unsuspecting. The Chicago vice commission in its probe unearthed the fact that more than two-thirds of the girls and women engaged in vocational prostitution had come in youth from the country or from foreign lands. Furthermore, the prosecutions of white slavers in that city a few years back under Attorneys Sims and Roe disclosed the additional fact that large numbers of these unfortunate girls and women had been imported into Chicago for immoral purposes by men who had taken advantage of their youth and inexperience.

Once more these girls are often of subnormal mentality. Within the past three years the state of Massachusetts, through a commission of experts, made a survey of vice conditions in its larger cities. Members of that commission were known to me personally, and I have talked with them about nearly every aspect of the vice question. In these conversations I was repeatedly assured that slightly over 50 per cent of the girls in the earlier stages of public prostitution were possessed of a mentality no more developed than that of an 11 or 12-year-old child. Not infrequently their mentality failed to reach even that level. These findings of the Massachusetts commission have since been made public through its printed report to the state legislature. Kindred investigations into the mentality of prostitutes in various parts of the world concur in reporting this uniform subnormality. To more than half of them heredity has been unkind, skimping their very minds. That unkindness it is the business of society to remedy as far as may be through a friendly and helpful environment, rather than to exploit it for the lust of certain of society's male members.

Atlanta is already a great and an influential city. Her still greater destiny is written clearly in her strategic position, her unsurpassed climate, her indomitable energy, her spiritual idealism, and the rapid unfolding of her deeper and finer civic consciousness. Surely a city which, within a week, has formally given two great universities to the cause of efficiency, culture and religion in the new south will not now add the gift of a red light area, dedicated to the polluting of its health, the ruin of its youth, the shattering of its law, and the debauching of unfortunate girls and women.

Colonel Lowry Appeals for Permanent Memorial to Gen. William McIntosh

Editor Constitution: It is gratifying to all Georgians that permanent memorials adorn our state at various places to preserve within the memory of succeeding generations the valiant deeds of famous men, who have helped to make the state's history.

A permanent memorial exists at Indian Springs in memory of the valorous deeds, the self-sacrificing patriotism, and the noble character of General William McIntosh, chief of the Muscogees or Creeks, one of the stanchest friends that Georgia ever hand, and one of the bravest of the brave. On June 14 last the Varner-McIntosh memorial at Indian Springs was dedicated, and it is the purpose of the William McIntosh chapter of Butts county, Daughters of the American Revolution, to permanently preserve the building at Indian Springs, which was the first hotel erected there by General William McIntosh.

To some extent Georgians have felt a twinge of conscience that the foul murder of General William McIntosh was never avenged. He was a true friend of the United States and of Georgia, and in the effort to befriend Georgia he concluded the treaty with the Creeks at Indian Springs on the 12th of February, 1825, for which act he was afterwards savagely murdered by a band of disgruntled Indians, who opposed that treaty. As a result of this treaty, however, Georgia was cleared of Indians and subsequently in 1838 the Cherokees at the north left the state, and the white man has had absolute peaceable possession of Georgia ever since.

General McIntosh won the title of brigadier general in the war of 1812, fighting valiantly on the American side. He resisted all the overtures by the British, and held fast to the friendship he had for the white brethren of Georgia. He was himself a Scotchman, though he had an Indian mother, and he was chief of the Muscogees or Creeks. He was a man of honor, of loyalty, of bravery and gallantry. His official acts in dealings between the white men and the Indians were marked for their fairness to both sides. He did much for the white man as well as for the Indian, and the interposition of his strong personality was the cause of the peaceful relations which existed between the Creeks and the white men while they occupied Georgia in common. The treaty with the Indians in 1825 was fair to both sides, but, as stated, the disgruntled element of the nation under the tutelage of mean and designing white men foully murdered him for signing this treaty, and burned and pillaged his home near where now the town of Carrollton stands.

First Hotel at Indian Springs.

The first hotel at Indian Springs, Ga., was erected by General William McIntosh. Begun in 1821, it was completed in 1823, and in opening it for business its advertisement appeared in The Georgia Journal, published at Milledgeville, then the capital, as a "Hotel for man and beast." General McIntosh chose a name for the hotel other than his own, which indicated his modesty, and it was here on the 12th of February, 1825, that he signed the celebrated treaty, whereby the lands of the Creek Indians within the state of Georgia were ceded to the state. The office counter, desk and chair used by the general are preserved with the building, and the building itself still stands in a remarkable state of preservation, being known now as the "Varner-McIntosh Memorial."

All of the lumber used in the building was secured from the reserve and was sawed by hand. All the carving on the doors and mantels was done with a pocketknife, and most of this is said to have been done by General McIntosh himself.

After the death of General McIntosh the hotel was next operated by a Mr. Mathis; then by Mr. Joel Davis; then by Mr. Henry Dillon. In 1897 it was purchased by Mr. Ed Varner, and operated for a number of years as the Varner house. It is quite a curiosity to examine the old register dating back to 1847, and there see the names of prominent people throughout the southern states, who in days of yore sought the resort of Indian Springs for health and rest. It is not only a popular resort to day, but around this place clusters the halo begotten of worthy deeds of men of chivalry, valor and honor in the history of this commonwealth.

On the 27th of February last this building, with one acre of land, was presented by the owners, the Misses Varner, to the William McIntosh chapter of Butts county, Daughters of the American Revolution, which presentation was intended as an anniversary gift of sacred significance, and it is the purpose of the chapter, as I am informed, to preserve this historical place as a permanent memorial. Certainly there could be within this state no more worthy memorial preserved, for at this place the treaty was concluded and signed, which ultimately gave the white men the supreme possession of the state, and this treaty held good, even though assailed by no less a power than the United States government itself.

Repairs Necessary to Preserve Memorial.

It is a most worthy enterprise on the part of these good women of the William McIntosh chapter to preserve this memorial. In order to properly do so, it will doubtless be necessary to make extensive repairs, such as re-covering the entire building, painting for permanent preservation. I feel assured that patriotic Georgians will readily and promptly respond to such call as the chapter may make for any immediate funds they may require to put this building in shape for preservation, and beautify the acre of ground surrounding it. Thus will be preserved the site of a significant historical event in Georgia as a memorial of the famous treaty as well as the rugged, honest, chivalric and noble character of General William McIntosh, who signed it and who suffered death for his act.

Aside from the formal appeal, which will doubtless be made through the public press by the chapter itself, I would suggest that patriotic Georgians, who might feel called upon to aid in this worthy memorial, send such contributions to Miss Lula Dozier, Flovilla, Ga., who will see to it that such contributions get into the proper channel for use in preserving this memorial. The Misses Varner have shown a patriotism in presenting this building and surrounding grounds to the chapter for preservation, and it should certainly be the pleasure of the people of this great commonwealth to keep it in a state of permanent preservation.

3,000 RUMANIANS TAKEN BY TEUTONS

As Result of Battle Near Hermannstadt, in Transylvania—Thirteen Guns and Lot of War Supplies Are Captured.

Berlin, October 1.—(Via London.)—More than 3,000 prisoners have been taken by the Germans in the battle near Hermannstadt, Transylvania, where the first Rumanian army was defeated and dispersed. Thirteen guns and a large quantity of war supplies also have been captured. Rumanian attacks have been repulsed. The following is the official account of operations in the Transylvania theater:

"On the eastern front Rumanian attacks in Maros valley were repulsed. In Georgeny valley and farther south our vanguards partly evaded the enemy's thrust. The booty taken by German troops in the fighting south of Henndorf has been increased by eight cannon. Northwest of Fogaras the enemy has ceased to attack.

"As a result of the battle of Hermannstadt more than 3,000 prisoners and thirteen guns were brought in up to yesterday. One hangar, two aeroplanes, ten locomotives, 300 railroad cars laden with munitions, more than 200 munitions wagons, more than 200 loaded baggage wagons, seventy transport wagons and one hospital train also have been taken. Further material is being brought in gradually from the woods. Rotherthurm pass is filled with vehicles blown to pieces by our fire.

"South of the pass strong Rumanian attacks directed against the heights west of Cainent were repulsed. In the Hatzeger mountains the enemy made a fruitless attack west of Strell Aztrigy valley.

"An Austro-Hungarian Danube flotilla forced an entry into the harbor of Corabia, destroyed nine vessels and captured seven partly loaded ships.

"Bucharest has been bombarded by our aeroplanes with visibly good results."

VICTORY COMPLETE, AUSTRIANS CLAIM.

Vienna, October 1.—(Via London.)—The victory gained over the Rumanians in the Hermannstadt region of Transylvania by General von Falkenhayn's army was complete and the Rumanian army was dispersed, the war office announced today. The Rumanian forces in the Fogaras region attacked in an attempt to retrieve the situation, but were not able to make great headway, although they compelled the Austrians to retire on one section of the front. The following official account of these operations was given out here today:

"On the Rumanian front, west of Petroseny, Rumanian attacks were repulsed.

"Near Hermannstadt, German and Austro-Hungarian forces under command of General von Falkenhayn gained a complete victory. Four days ago, by a wide encircling movement, a column of Bavarian troops blocked the road through Rothenthurm Pass, in the enemy's rear. All the enemy's attempts to reopen the road were fruitless.

"Simultaneously, Austro-Hungarian and German troops from the west, north and south advanced against the Rumanian divisions operating south of Hermannstadt. The enemy fought desperately in the battle, which was of the most sanguinary character. Deprived of any practicable roads, the remnants of the Rumanian troops fled into the Fogaras mountains. The number of prisoners taken is increasing hourly, while the amount of booty is enormous, as the enemy had to abandon a wagon park which he did not have time to destroy.

"An offensive resumed on September 28 by the Rumanians against the Transylvania eastern front was not able to alter the result of this battle, although north of Fogaras and near Szekely Udvarhely and Oderhellen our advanced troops had to retire on the main forces. On the other hand, the Germans in a counter attack south of Henndorf captured eleven Rumanian officers, 591 men and three machine guns.

"On September 29 an Austro-Hungarian motor boat detachment, reinforced by an armed steamer and the German motor vessel Weichsel, attacked the Rumanian port of Corabia (on the Danube), after having silenced the enemy's defensive works. Our forces penetrated the inner port and destroyed the railway station, military establishments, the harbor works, a Russian armed steamer which sought refuge at Corabia in the spring, and also some mine-layers and tugs, finally bringing back nine Austro-Hungarian tugs which had been detained in port. We sustained no loss."

RUMANIAN REPORT ON OPERATIONS.

Bucharest, October 1.—(Via London.) The Rumanian official communication issued today says:

"On the north and northwestern fronts local actions occurred. On the front in South Dobrudja there has been an artillery duel along the whole line.

"Enemy aeroplanes dropped bombs on Bucharest, killing two women and five children; on Tchernavoda, where bombs struck a hospital, and on Budesti."

STRIKING GERMANS ON TWO-MILE FRONT

BRITISH ADVANCE AND DRIVE GERMANS ON 3,000-YARD FRONT

London, October 1.—British troops in the center along the Somme line have made an advance on a 3,000-yard front from east of Eaucourt L'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road, according to the official statement from headquarters issued at midnight.

Eaucourt L'Abbaye itself is reported to be in the hands of the British. The operations were aided by the armored "tanks."

The text reads:

"Sunday afternoon south of the Ancre our center attacked and captured the whole of its objective on a front of 3,000 yards from a point east of Eaucourt L'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road, northeast of Destemont farm. The village of Eaucourt L'Abbaye is reported to be in our hands.

"Further east we pushed our outposts well beyond the original front line. More than 300 prisoners have been already taken and our casualties up to the present are small.

"In this action the new armored cars have done valuable work in clearing the enemy trenches behind the infantry advance.

"The village of Transloy (north of Morval) was effectively bombarded by our artillery and an ammunition dump blown up.

"On Saturday two aeroplanes were successfully bombarded by our aeroplanes and at least one machine was destroyed. In the fighting over this front four enemy machines were brought down. One of our machines is missing.

"Enemy troops and transport were repeatedly attacked from the air with machine gun fire and in one instance several hundred infantry were dispersed.

"Since September 18 we have taken between the Ancre and the Somme 24 field guns, three field Howitzers and three heavy Howitzers.

"From July 1 to September 30, in the same area, we made prisoner 588 officers and 26,147 other ranks."

The British communication issued Sunday afternoon says

"During the night some progress was made between Fiers and Le Sars. There was heavy shelling in that neighborhood and also around Gueudecourt.

"In the Thiepval area the enemy was driven out of ground he held near the Stuff redoubt. We increased our lines at Schwaben redoubt, only a minute portion whereof remains untaken.

"Sixteen raids were carried out successfully last night on our front between Ypres and Neuve Chapelle. A number of prisoners were taken and much loss was inflicted on the enemy.

"A captured German army order, dated September 21, emphasizes the importance at that time of the position at Lesboeufs as 'the last protection of the artillery, which must in no circumstances be lost.' We captured this position a few days afterwards."

FRENCH CAPTURE GERMAN TRENCHES.

Paris, October 1.—French troops have captured some elements of trenches to the north of Rancourt and southeast of Morval, on the Somme front, according to the official communication, issued tonight.

The text reads:

"On the Somme front we carried out during the day some small operations which enabled us to capture trench elements north of Rancourt and southeast of Morval. There was reciprocal shelling at different points along the front, especially violent south of the Somme.

"In Champagne, in the region south of Butte de Mesnil, the enemy attempted two sudden attacks after lively bombardments. Our curtain of fire immediately checked one attempt, and the other, east of Tahure, also failed.

"Everywhere else there was the usual cannonade.

"Aviation: A captive balloon was brought down in flames in the region of Longavesnes (northeast of Peronne), on the Somme front.

The French communication issued during the day said:

"On the Somme front there was considerable artillery activity," the statement says. "We made some progress during the night by hand grenade fighting to the southeast of Morval, along the Somme, and to the southeast of Clery.

"Elsewhere on the front there was intermittent cannonading."

ATTACKS REPULSED, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, October 1.—(Via London.)—The British and French renewed their attacks on the Somme front yesterday and desperate hand-to-hand fighting resulted. The official report of today says the assaults were repulsed. The announcement follows:

"Against the front of Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg and also against the Flanders and Artois front of Prince Rupprecht's army, the British developed particularly lively patrol fighting.

"On the battle front north of the Somme the artillery fighting attained great violence in the afternoon. Near and east of Thiepval strong British attacks again developed. As on previous days they were repulsed by the troops of Generals von Stein and Sixt von Armin after desperate hand-to-hand fighting.

"From Rancourt and the west thereof, French regiments made fruitless attacks against our positions. Local attacks from Courcelette, Morval and northwest of Halle (1¼ miles northwest of Peronne) broke down under our curtain of fire.

RUSSIANS RESUME DRIVE IN GALICIA AND MAKE GAINS

Petrograd, October 1.—(Via London.) The Russian drive at Lemberg was renewed yesterday. After a period of comparative inactivity, the Russians inaugurated strong offensive movements north and south of the Galician capital. According to today's war office report material successes have been won. It is said Austro-German positions were penetrated and that more than 4,000 prisoners were taken. The Teutonic forces are offering bitter resistance. The announcement follows:

"In the region south of Riga a German aeroplane, hit by our artillery, fell into the enemy lines.

"In the neighborhood of the Brody-Krasne railway line (Krasne is thirty miles northeast of Lemberg) and to the south thereof, fighting is taking place, our troops forcing their way forward.

The enemy is offering stubborn resistance. We captured here 59 officers and 1,928 men.

"Fighting is proceeding in our favor south of Brzezany (50 miles southeast of Lemberg) on the river Tseniuvka, and in the region of the heights on the right bank of Zlota Lipa. Here we captured part of the enemy position by assault, taking during this operation 112 officers and 2,268 men. We also captured several machine guns. Enemy counter attacks during the night were frustrated by our fire.

"In the same region an aerial encounter with a German Albatross took place. The gallant Staff Cavalry Captain Tchirkoff attacked the enemy aeroplane and forced it to descend abruptly in the German lines.

"On the Caucasian front there were no developments."

GERMANS ADMIT GAIN BY RUSSIANS.

Berlin, October 1.—(Via London.)—The Russians have assumed the offensive once more, striking out with great force above and below Lemberg. Southeast of the Galician capital they gained a foothold in the Austro-German positions, the war office announced today. An advance northeast of the city was checked after the Russians had charged the German lines seven times.

The announcement follows:

"The Russians again resumed the offensive at various points.

"Front of Prince Leopold: West of Lutsk the enemy's fire has increased since this morning.

"On both sides of the Brody-Lemberg railway (northeast of Lemberg) and further south as far as Graborka, near Zborow, the advance of the enemy has been arrested partly by our curtain of fire and partly by the complete collapse of assaults repeated seven times.

"The southern wing of the attacking Russian force gained a foothold in our front line of defense.

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis: On both sides of the Zlota Lipa (on the front southeast of Lemberg) there was violent hand-to-hand fighting. In the angle between the Tseniuvka and the Zlota Lipa the enemy advanced. Further to the west the Turkish troops ejected the Russians yesterday by an immediate counter attack and this morning penetrated positions held by Russian detachments. Two hundred and thirty prisoners were brought in.

"In the Carpathians calm prevailed. The number of prisoners taken near the Klauzura road was increased to more than 600."

FIGHTING RAGES IN CARPATHIANS.

Vienna, October 1.—(Via London.)—"Fighting in the Ludowa region (Carpathians) continues," says today's official account of operations on the Russian front. "In an attack we captured four Russian officers, 532 men and eight machine guns.

"On the front of Prince Leopold there have been no events of importance except the repulse of a Russian attack near Wytonice and successful advance guard engagements in Poland."

ITALIANS DRIVE AUSTRIAN TROOPS FROM TRENCHES

Rome, October 1.—(Via London.)—"In the Travenanzes valley of the upper Boite, Italian Alpine troops attacked and drove out enemy detachments which had entrenched themselves on the southeastern slopes of Monte Lagabuoi, and of Pizzo di Fanis," says today's official announcement. "In his flight the enemy left a large amount of war material and some prisoners in our hands.

"On the Julian front there were only intermittent artillery actions.

"Enemy batteries bombarded Merna and Vertoiba. A few shells also fell on Gorizia."

Vienna, October 1.—(Via London.)—The following official report of the progress of the Italian campaign was given out here today:

"Hostile artillery and bomb throwers were more active on the Carso plateau.

"Seven more Italians, who were still alive, including a cadet, were rescued on Monte Cimone.

"There is nothing to report from the southwestern (Albanian) front."

GREECE EXPECTED TO DECLARE WAR

King Constantine Will Likely Announce Decision Today—Venizelos to Be Called to Cabinet.

Athens, October 1.—(Via London.)—Notwithstanding the persistent assertions by adherents of former Premier Venizelos and the entente that King Constantine is merely playing for time and does not intend to declare war, those close to the king are confident he will telegraph his decision to King George, Emperor Nicholas and President Pointcare on Monday at the latest. The Athens stock market is extraordinarily bullish.

Once the king's decision has been reached, it is expected a national cabinet will be formed, in consultation with the British minister. M. Venizelos probably will have a portfolio if he desires.

The Official Gazette of the provisional government publishes this morning a decree signed by M. Venizelos and Vice Admiral Coundouriotis, "by virtue of the power vested in them by popular decree of September 26, naming General Panyotis Danglis, the former minister of war, as the third member of the triumvirate heading the provisional government.

"The island of Tenedos has joined in the revolutionary movement."

Forty-five policemen, cadets and soldiers who were desirous of joining the revolutionists at Saloniki went to the French legation yesterday. Jean Guillemin, the French minister, supplied for them an armed escort from the mainlines guarding the French legation. With this escort the men paraded through the streets to embark.

Several Greek officers followed in an automobile, and set out with the men for Saloniki.

The former war minister and former chief of general staff, General Danglis, left Athens today aboard an allied destroyer to join M. Venizelos. Demonstrations against ex-Premier Venizelos are reported to have occurred at Nauplia, which ended in rioting, the prefect being forced to flee.

King Constantine has appointed new commanders to the battleships Kilkis, formerly the United States battleship Idaho, and Averoff, owing to the Venizelist leanings of the present commanders of the ships.

ATLANTA A QUIET CITY WHEN TROLLIES STOPPED

It Was a Fine Day for Walking, if You Didn't Own a Car.

The "city's din and clamor" was reduced to a rural tranquillity in the vicinity of Five Points Sunday after the trollies started for the barns.

Except for the 1917 model eight-cylinders and the ubiquitous jitnies, present-day Atlantans no doubt, from at least a standpoint of sound, got a good idea of the Marthasville of old.

There were no street cars to dodge, no flat wheels to assail the cars, no clanging gongs, no stops to make in accord with city code 1776, "while a street car is motionless on the thoroughfare."

The automobilist had a good time of it, and the "jitney" achieved great popularity. Taxicabs did a rushing business, and the gasoline merchants can today start investing in bonds and real estate.

Peachtree and Whitehall were endless streams of automobiles, which traveled at a rapid gait, since there were no vexing trollies to thread past.

The automobilist saved gallons of gasoline on manipulation of his gears. Two stops and a start of a big car will drink more gasoline than two miles of travel. Since there were no cars to block the path, the autos traveled along all day without stops to worry about.

Everybody who didn't own an auto, or couldn't find a jitney, had to walk. But both downtown Atlanta and the people living on the outskirts took their plight good-naturedly enough. The only complaint was from scores of church-goers, many of whom came in on the cars from the suburbs, and were marooned downtown when the cars stopped.

It was the first time Atlanta had been forced to walk for the larger part of a day and all the night since the mind of motorman slippeth not to the contrary.

Due to the unusualness of the experience, not to mention its hardships, the great question fermenting in the mind of the city until last night was "What'll happen tomorrow?"

Therefore, the city-wide rejoicing over the announcement the cars will run today had it been transformed into sound would have shaken the city with its volume.

SERBIANS STORM MOUNTAIN CREST

Bulgars Are Driven From Kaimakcalan Height on the Greek-Serb Border — British Drive Bulgars From Two Villages.

New York, October 1.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—In Macedonia the Serbians, after days of bitter fighting, have at last captured the Kaimakcalan height on the Greek-Serbians border from Bulgarians.

The British on the Struma have taken a portion of the Bulgarian line near the Orljak bridge.

BULGARS DRIVEN FROM MOUNTAIN BY SERB FORCES

Berlin, October 1.—(Via Sayville.)—The capture by the Serbians of Kaimakcalan height, on the western end of the Macedonian front, for possession of which heavy fighting between the Serbians and Bulgarians has been in progress for some time, was announced by the war office today. The announcement regarding the Macedonian campaign follows:

"At many points between Presby lake and the Vardar river there were spirited artillery engagements. An isolated attack undertaken by the enemy was stopped.

"By a strong attack, the enemy captured the summit of Kaimakcalan."

DEAD BULGARS COVER GROUND.

London, October 1.—The Serbians on Saturday gained an important success at Kaimakcalan, says a Reuter dispatch from Saloniki. After violent artillery preparation causing frightful havoc in the ranks of the Bulgarians, the Serbian infantry executed a brilliant attack, capturing all the remaining points on this position.

The ground was covered with dead Bulgarians and the Bulgarian survivors fled panic-stricken. The Serbians captured a complete battery of mountain guns and recaptured a gun and three bomb throwers abandoned during a recent Bulgarian counter attack, besides taking a quantity of war material and machine guns.

The Serbian advance continues, the dispatch adds.

BRITISH ROUT BULGAR TROOPS.

Paris, October 1.—The French war office has issued the following statement regarding operations in the Balkans:

"Army of the East: On the left bank of the Struma the British, after strong artillery preparation, captured by a brilliant assault two fortified villages near the Serek road. Several hundred prisoners, including 200 unwounded, fell into their hands.

"Patrol encounters occurred at the foot of Mount Beles. From Lake Doiran to the Vardar the cannonading was intermittent.

"In the region of Kaimakcalan the Serbians attacked the heights, which were strongly held by the Bulgarians. Gallantly our allies mastered the resistance of the enemy, who was forced to abandon the position, leaving numerous dead. The Serbians captured a Bulgarian battery.

"On our left wind a spirited artillery duel continues.

"One of our aeroplanes bombarded Sofia and continued its journey to Bucharest, where it landed."

London, October 1.—A British official communication issued tonight and dealing with the fighting in Macedonia says:

"Doiran front: Our artillery has been active.

"On the Struma front below the Orljak our troops took possession of a portion of the Bulgarian line.

"After stubborn fighting and heavy artillery preparation, our gains were extended during the evening. Six counter attacks were successfully broken up during the day. A hundred prisoners already have been passed back.

"The fighting continues."

MURDERER CAUGHT BY MACON SOLDIERS AFTER BREAKING JAIL

Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—Zeddie Patterson, an 18-year-old boy, under life sentence at Waycross for the murder of M. Orvitz, a Waycross merchant, and who escaped from the Ware county jail last Wednesday night, was captured in Macon today and is now in the Bibb county jail. Patterson was seen by a soldier at the Virgin Point drug store. The soldier notified the provost guard, who placed him under arrest. Patterson admitted his identity and gave no trouble.

With three other prisoners Patterson escaped. The convicts caught a freight train for Tifton, where Patterson left his companions and arrived here Saturday.

Patterson and his father were tried for the murder of Orvitz, the father being acquitted, while the son received a life sentence. Patterson claims he is innocent.

NEUTRAL SHIPS TAKEN BY GERMAN SEA FORCES

Berlin, October 1.—(Via Sayville.)—The admiralty made the following announcement today:

"German sea forces on the night of September 27-28 brought in from the southern part of the North sea the Norwegian steamer Short Lea, with contraband, and two Dutch tug boats, the Zuider Zee and the Gouw Zee, each with two lighters, which apparently were intended for military purposes. All the vessels were bound for England."

Tech Plays Cumberland; Georgia Meets Clemson; South to Invade East

The football menu for next Saturday promises a better repast for the football fans generally than the opener last Saturday did.

Locally, Georgia Tech will receive a test in the Cumberland eleven which makes its first appearance in Atlanta in several seasons.

When Cumberland formerly played here she boasted one of the best elevens in the south, but of late years her football stock has been secondary.

However, she has been slowly regaining prestige and this year is said to have one of her best teams in recent years. But, on the other hand, she will be meeting the best Tech team in the history of the local institution.

Georgia vs. Clemson.

The most important game of the day in the south is slated to be played at Anderson, S. C., with Georgia and Clemson locking horns.

This game is usually a November contest, and that both teams agreed to such a stiff contest this early in the season is surprising.

The dope on the contest is hard to fathom. Clemson's strength is unknown, while Georgia's is uncertain. The only dope available is that it should be a tough contest for both teams.

Sewanee, Vanderbilt, Alabama, Auburn, Chattanooga, Tennessee, L. S. U., Mississippi and the other larger schools have only practice affairs scheduled for the day.

Eastern Invasion.

There will be an invasion of the east by southern elevens next Saturday that should form interesting dope as a basis of comparing the teams of the two sections.

The University of Virginia eleven will tackle the Yale Bulldogs at New Haven, whom they defeated in their invasion of the east last year, 10 to 0.

North Carolina will meet the Princeton Tigers at Princeton, giving Speedy Rush's hopefuls their first real contest of the year.

Local fans will be especially interested in the invasions of North Carolina and Washington and Lee, as they are both on Tech's schedule on future dates.

The other larger eastern teams and all the leading western teams have mere practice romps for the day.

Red Sox Roster; Brief History Of Their Stars

New York, October 1.—The following roster of the leading players of the Boston American league club, who are likely to participate in the coming world's series, includes the principal features of their playing career from the time they entered the national sport:

MANAGER CARRIGAN—William F. Carrigan, the manager of the team, was born at Lewiston, Maine, September 22, 1883, and came to the Red Sox from Holy Cross college in 1907. Later he was sent to the Toronto club of the Eastern league for further development and in 1908 he returned to the Boston club and has remained with that team since. Late in July, 1913, he became manager, in which capacity he has octed for the three years. Carrigan is one of the very few playing managers of the present day. As a catcher he has taken part in more than thirty games this season and has an excellent batting and fielding average.

JOHN J. BARRY—John J. Barry, who was born at Meridien, Conn., in 1887, graduated from Holy Cross college, where he became a prominent factor in collegiate baseball and was signed by the Philadelphia Athletics after his graduation. He was one of Mack's mainstays from 1908 to 1914, when the Philadelphia manager broke up his wonderful team and Barry went to Boston. He was the regular second baseman for the "Red Sox," a timely hitter and a player possessed of all around ability, but injuries which he received during the present season have prevented him from playing for some time past and he may not take part in the coming series.

FORREST CADY—Forrest Cady, first string catcher of the Red Sox, is the tallest man on the team. He was born at Bishop, Ill., twenty-five years ago and made his professional debut with Indianapolis in 1908. He was sold by Indianapolis in 1910 to Newark and was with that team for two years, being sold to Boston in 1912, when that club won the world's championship from the Giants.

GEORGE FOSTER—George Foster, born in Bokoshe, Okla., twenty-seven years ago, is a right-hand pitcher. Most of his experience has been gained with the Red Sox, as he started his career in the Texas league with Houston in 1912, and went to Boston in 1913. Foster, with Wood absent, was the mainstay of the Red Sox last year, and promises to continue in that role for some time, because he is a willing worker and possesses the skill and good judgment to go with it.

DELL C. GAINOR—"Del" Gainor, who substituted at the initial sack for Hoblitzel, and hit the ball more often than any infielder on the club the latter part of the season, is 29 years old. He began his career in 1909 with the Fort Wayne club of the Central league. He was purchased from Fort Wayne by Detroit in 1910, but was not seasoned enough. He returned to Fort Wayne, but was recalled in 1911. He immediately won the first bag on the Tiger team and played through the season of 1911. He broke his wrist in 1912 and was out of the game so long Detroit sold him to Boston. He was a utility infielder and pinch hitter for the club last season and has been of great value to the team.

LAWRENCE GARDNER—Lawrence (Larry) Gardner, third baseman, is a graduate of the University of Vermont, where he first learned his baseball. He was born at Enosburg Falls, Vt., May 23, 1886, of English parents. From 1905 to 1907 he was star of the Vermont team. Many clubs offered Gardner a contract, and he practically chose the Red Sox himself, signing in 1908. He farmed out to Lynn, of the New England league, in 1908, returning to the Red Sox the following season. Since then he has played continuously, excepting, when injured, at first in utility roles, then succeeding McConnell at second base and later being moved to third base, his present position. He is a splendid fielder and an excellent batsman, besides being fast on the bases. He bats left-handed and throws right-handed.

SYLVANUS GREGG—Sylvanus ("Vean") Gregg was born at Ashland, Wash., October 27, 1887. He played ball with many independent teams during his early carer, and received his first professional assignment with the Spokane club, of the Northwestern league, in 1909. He was purchased by Cleveland in 1911. He was then sold, in the middle of 1914, to Boston.

OLAF HENRIKSEN—Olaf Henriksen, substitute outfielder and pinch hitter of the Red Sox is a New Englander, 25 years of age, whose winter home is Clinton, Mass. He first played professionally with the Brockton club, of the New England league, in 1910, and was purchased by Boston during the season of 1911. He bats and throws left-handed.

RICHARD J. HOBLITZEL—Richard J. (Dick) Hoblitzel, was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., October 26, 1889. His first professional contract was with Clarksburg, W. Va., in 1907. He joined the Newark league club in 1908, but was sent to Wheeling, from where he was purchased by the Cincinnati Reds. Until 1914 he played with the Reds and for most of that time he ranked among the best as a first baseman. He was sold to Boston by Herzog, for private reasons, and immediately made his mark with the Red Sox. He is a big fellow who knows the game well, can hit and field with the best, and is a main factor in the great machine.

HARRY B. HOOPER—Harry B. Hooper, right fielder for the Red Sox, started his career as a pitcher, but was placed in the outfield because of his hitting ability. He was born in Santa Clara, Cal., August 24, 1887, and his first profesional engagement was Sacramento, Cal., in 1907. He was purchased from the coast team by the Red Sox, and became a regular in 1908.

HAROLD C. JANVRIN—Harold C. Janvrin is a utility player of much worth. He began his career with Boston English High school and was born in Boston 23 years ago. His first professional experience was with the Red Sox, which team he joined in 1911. He was farmed out to Jersey City in 1912, and recalled the next season. He is a flashy fielder and timely hitter, and can play any of the infield positions.

HUBERT B. LEONARD—Hubert B. ("Dutch") Leonard, the star southpaw of the Boston team, and probably the most efficient left-hander in the league, was born at Fresno, Cal., twenty-four years ago. He received his early baseball training at St. Mary's college, in San Francisco. He came direct to the Red Sox from the college ranks in 1911, but was sent to Denver for seasoning. He was with Denver in 1912 and part of 1913 and returned to the Red Sox in the middle of the 1913 season. In 1914 Leonard led the American league pitchers in efficiency.

GEORGE LEWIS—George (Duffy) Lewis, left fielder of the Red Sox, was born in San Francisco, April 18, 1888. He started his baseball career as a collegian on the Pacific coast, his first professional engagement being with Alameda, Cal., in 1906. He came to Boston in 1910 and has been a regular almost from his first day. He bats and throws right-handed and is considered a .300 hitter.

CARL MAYS—Carl Mays, another member of the Boston pitching staff, was born in Portland, Ore., twenty-four years ago. He came to the Red Sox last year from the Providence club, of the International league. He is a right-hander and, although a youngster, has convinced Carrigan and others that he is the coming sensation of the league.

GEORGE RUTH—George ("Babe") Ruth, 21 years old, was born in Baltimore and first attracted attention as a pitcher for St. Mary's Industrial school, of that city. He was taken under the wing of "Jack" Dunn, then manager of the Orioles, who obtained papers as Ruth's guardian and played the young fellow on the club. Ruth went to the Red Sox in 1914 and was farmed to Providence, but returned last year in time to win enough games for the Red Sox to keep them in the race. Ruth also is a hitter of ability. He is a left-handed boxman and also has ability in this position.

EVERETT SCOTT—Everett Scott was born at Bluffton, Ind., twenty-three years ago. He played semi-professionally until attracted by Boston scouts n 1913, when he was induced to sign with the majors. He was sent to St. Paul for seasoning, being recalled in 1914. He is not a great hitter, but manages to place a hit into the game when most needed.

ERNEST G. SHORE—Ernest G. (Long) Shore, 25 years of age, learned his pitching feats at Gullford college, of Fayetteville, N. C. John McGraw tried him out in 1912, but Shore, when released from the New York baseball club to Indianapolis, refused to carry out the plan. The next year McGraw reinstated Shore, who got an engagement with Baltimore, subsequently going to the Boston club. Shore pitched remarkable ball for the Red Sox in the 1915 world series.

CHESTER D. THOMAS—Chester D. Thomas, who warms up the pitchers, catches when Cady and Carrigan are overworked and pinch hits with a timely punch, was born in Sharon, Kan., twenty-six years ago. He is a right-hand thrower and a left-hand swatter, and does both with equal excellence.

CHARLES WAGNER—Charles (Heinie) Wagner, utility infielder of the Red Sox, probably is the oldest man in point of service on the Boston club. He was born in New York, September 23, 1881, where he played semi-professionally for several years before being tried out by the Giants as a shortstop in 1901. He reached his right form in 1906, attracted the Red Sox owners and was purchased by that club.

GIANTS-DODGERS GAMES IN DETAIL

The important series between the Giants and the Dodgers, starting this afternoon at Brooklyn, will probably decide the National league pennant race, will be called in detail by Dick Jemison at his baseball parlors on the Viaduct.

Today's game will start at 2 o'clock. There will be four games in the series and every game will be important. An admission fee of 35 cents will be charged.

While the Dodgers and Giants are battling, the Phillies and the Braves will hook up in six games in four days.

From the present prospects, the pennant winner in the National league will hardly be decided until the final game of the season.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds 4, Pirates 0.

Cincinnati, October 1.—The last game of the season between Pittsburg and Cincinnati was won by the latter here today, 4 to 0. Toney pitched good ball, letting the visitors down with six scattered hits and striking out eleven men. A field meet was held before the game and in the long distance fungo hitting contest, Peter Schneider, pitcher for the locals, drove the ball 437.6 feet.

Scott Perry Wins.

Chicago, October 1.—Three home runs by Chicago batters and the efficient pitching of Perry gave Chicago a 6 to 3 victory over St. Louis in the final league game of each team today. Fast fielding by both sides was a feature.

RED SOX AGAIN ARE CHAMPIONS

New York, October 1.—Boston, 1915 world's champion, is again the pennant winner in the American league. Although Chicago's defeat today brought a decision in the American, the pennant in the National league is not yet clinched, and it will take the concluding games of the season to decide the winner. Brooklyn and Philadelphia appear to have the best mathematical chances of opposing Boston in the world's championship series.

Whether Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Boston wins, the classic of baseball will be played in the east, Boston, as in the preceding two years, having one of the contending teams. Not since 1910, when Chicago won in the National league, has the west had a contender in the championship series.

Adding to the excitement of the close pennant races, the New York Nationals during the week established a major league record of 26 successive victories. The previous major league record of 20 straight games, made by Providence 32 years ago, was passed by the New York team Monday when it took two games from St. Louis. New York defeated St. Louis again Tuesday and Wednesday, and Thursday twice defeated Boston. Saturday the new mark was increased to 26 by winning one game from Boston, but the Braves broke the winning streak by taking the second game of the double-header.

Dodgers Not Steady.

Brooklyn, although maintaining its hold on first place, did not play the baseball the team showed in midseason. Against Chicago in two games Monday Brooklyn broke even. Brooklyn won from Chicago Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday brought the opening game of the series with Philadelphia, the latter winning with Alexander in the box. Friday's contest was postponed until Saturday morning, when Philadelphia, with Rixey at the helm, defeated Brooklyn decisively. In the afternoon Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, Marquard holding the champions to three hits, while Alexander was hit hard.

Philadelphia lost one game during the week. It beat Cincinnati Monday and Tuesday, was idle Wednesday and defeated Brooklyn Thursday and in one game Saturday. Boston took five games from Pittsburg, but fell before New York Thursday by losing two games. Saturday, against New York, it broke even.

The final games of the season between the four first division teams in the National will be played at Brooklyn and Philadelphia. New York and Brooklyn will meet in a four-game series on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, while Boston and Philadelphia are battling in six games in the same four days. Upon these games the pennant depends.

Red Sox Final Week.

Boston did not maintain its previous winning pace in the American league during the week. The champions completed their western tour by losing to Cleveland on Sunday and winning from the same team Monday. After being idle Tuesday, Boston began a series against New York. Wednesday Boston won in ten innings and Thursday New York won in ten innings. Boston won on Friday and on Saturday, but had to go ten innings in the latter game.

Previous to Saturday Chicago had played only two games. New York lost to Rowland's men Sunday and Monday. Chicago on Saturday took two from Cleveland. Detroit broke even in two games against Washington Sunday and Monday and defeated St. Louis Friday and Saturday.

Boston has three games yet to play against Philadelphia on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Chicago and Detroit completed their schedules today.

Philadelphia, in the American league, has established a record for games lost. The previous mark of 113 games lost in a season, held by Washington, was equaled last Sunday and up to Saturday the Philadelphia organization had lost 116 games.

Schupp, who played a prominent part in New York's winning streak, pitched a two-hit game and a one-hit game during and week. He defeated St. Louis on Monday on two hits and won from Boston on Thursday on one hit.

The concluding games in the intersectional series had these results: National, east 14; west 1; American, east 3; west 5.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

INDIANS 2, WHITE SOX 0; WHITE SOX 8, INDIANS 4

Cleveland, Ohio, October 1.—Cleveland eliminated Chicago as a possible American league pennant winner today by taking the first game of a double-header, 2 to 0. Chicago won the second game, 8 to 4. Coumbe pitched brilliantly for Cleveland in the first game, allowing only two hits. Only twenty-nine men faced him during the nine innings. The second game was a farcical contest.

FIRST GAME.

Score by innings:		R.	H.	E.

Browns 6, Tigers 3.

St. Louis, October 1.—James was ineffective and St. Louis beat Detroit today 6 to 3, and moved into fourth place. It was the last game of the season here. St. Louis stole eight bases and Detroit stole seven. Cobb got a double and two singles.

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

The world's series doping is enough to set a fellow crazy. Here I started in to calculate the comparative strengths of the pitchers and catchers of the Boston Red Sox and the Phils and Dodgers. (This was before it became certain which team would grab the National bunting.) I was all set with the idea that the Red Sox would certainly show undoubted superiority over their rivals.

The figures reveal the superiority all right, but it is so confounded slight that an accident or a bit of luck either way might change it entirely. It is very close fighting, and it requires some odd doping on all the men involved. The thing that puts me right up against it is Carrigan himself. Carrigan would not, under ordinary circumstances, essay to catch in the world's series, believing he can do his team more good as a bench manager; but, with Barry out of the game and the team in need of a directing general on the field, he is almost compelled to take his turn and work with the toughest of his pitchers in order to steady them and direct the field work of his team.

If Barry is able to get into the battles, Carrigan can breathe a sigh of relief and attend to other duties. That makes tough figuring, for, to calculate the strength, either offensive or defensive, of any team, it is necessary to know who, in all probability, will catch the games. I have made a composite of Carrigan, Cady and Thomas, and figure Cady to carry the bulk of the work, probably catching three games if the series goes five or six.

Carrigan's Theory.

Carrigan has a theory (and a sound one) that one catcher is better with some pitchers than with others. His catchers and pitchers have for years worked in pairs, and this season he has adhered to his system as closely as possible. You may figure Cady to catch Shore, and Thomas will probably work with Foster, but the chances are that old Father Carrigan will be in there himself to handle his baby wonder—Ruth.

Carrigan is heavy, has slowed down, and is not in the best of condition; but he handles pitchers well, and that counts for a lot in the series. Besides, in spite of his present shortage of antelope assets, he is there with the punch and can help break up games. Cady has slumped frightfully as a batter, and he hadn't far to slump at that, while Thomas is not a great hitter, either.

The catchers of the Red Sox are not liable to do much damage to the pitching of Alexander or Jack Coombs or Pfeffer, but they may harm some of the other pitchers to a considerable extent.

The defensive ability of Boston's and the Phillies' catchers is one of the remarkable features of the dope. In calculating the strength of teams, I figure the offensive part of the game at sixty-two per cent, and the defensive at thirty-eight per cent. Each position, of course, differs in value, and I figure the catcher worth fourteen per cent of the total team strength. In this doping we find that the catchers of both the Phils and the Red Sox figure to be worth more than the average value of their position on defensive end, while the Brooklyn squad is below the average in strength.

Up to Chief Meyers.

The Brooklyn club will rely upon Chief Meyers in the series. He is their best bet, of course, although never a great backstop and one who held his job with the Giants for years through his hitting power. He still is the ranking batting catcher of the world's series aspirants, with the exception of his teammate—Miller—who is quite a swatter. You may figure safely that, if the series is a six-game one, the Indian will catch four and Miller two, should Brooklyn break in.

This pair figures stronger in attack than any of the others and much weaker in defense. On total value, they rank below either of the others. But, supposing this series develops into a slugging match after the first two games, what then? Immediately the hitting power of Brooklyn's catchers would tell greatly, and they would become even more valuable than the Red Sox squad. If it is a pitchers' series—as such series usually are—then Brooklyn's strength ebbs rapidly.

The Philadelphia pair ranks well up in catching. Killifer is not the backstop he was a few years ago. His arm, while it has come back to a large extent, is not as strong as formerly. Burns, forced into the series last season because of Killifer's bad arm, caught a creditable brand of ball. He muddled up Alexander's second game in bad shape, and had an attack of the panics. But the experience helped him wonderfully. He has caught better this year as a result and shown more confidence. He no longer is "second catcher," but the teammate of Killifer, and the moral effect has been good.

Tomorrow we will tackle the pitchers. After all, pitchers are mostly the whole thing in a series like this, and it is only when the boxmen wabble or weaken that the other points of strength or weakness of a team become glaringly evident. The comparison of the pitchers ought to show us a lot about the team strengths. I have tried not to hint what my figures will show, but the truth is I had to dope the pitchers first before starting to figure the strength of the other positions. I can promise some surprises—especially to you fellows who look only at the won and lost games.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Lilac Domino."
(At the Atlanta.)

"The Lilac Domino," the musical success of beauty, fun and fashion, comes to the Atlanta tonight for three performances and the name of Andreas Dippel as the producer is a guarantee that the production contains all the approved musical elements and a host of new features to insure its success. The score, which is the most seductively beautiful that has been heard in many a day, the work of Charles Cuvillier, ripples, and sways and floats along in a great variety of tempos but always with superlative charm. Twenty wonderful songs carry out a story of love and indiscretion with a cast of talented youthful singers with delightfully fresh voices, who are already on the high road to fame. There are girls by the dozens, and they dance every kind of a dance that has any claim to grace and beauty, from the classic interpretations to the very latest society steps. In the first act there is a bal-masque, in the second, a dansant and in the third a carnival, so that the holiday spirit runs riot through the entire three acts. Art critics and the public in general are talking of the sunset scene over the Mediterranean sea in the second act, which is the work of a world-famous Viennese artist. In it the blue waters ripple and dance in the sunset light which gradually fades into evening and then into night, when the stars peep out one by one and the lights of the village appear. Even the color of the water changes with the changing lights of the dying day, just as it does in nature.

"The Only Girl."

Seats go on sale today at the box office of the Atlanta for the engagement of "The Only Girl" at that theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee.

A capacity patronage is promised for this brilliant musical comedy which is rated the best ever done by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom. These past masters of the art of musical comedy making will receive just treatment at the hands of the company which Manager Joe Weber has furnished for this engagement. It is the same cast which appeared before President Wilson in Washington. There will also be the beautiful "Pequin Girls" with their ultra modish gowns and frocks to fill the picture.

Valerie Bergere.
(At the Forsyth.)

The delightful Japanese playlet, "Little Cherry Blossom," said to be one of the most popular of the newer vaudeville offerings, stars Valerie Bergere as headline feature of the Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth this week. The sketch is a splendid and picturesquely staged comedy from the pen of Stephen G. Champlin. Homer Lind, the noted opera singer, is one of this week's bill in the musical dramatic playlet, "The Singing Teacher," in which he is assisted by Adah Currie Lind.

As other top-notch features Manager George Hickman has announced Marie Stoddard in her popular "Cartoon Songs;" Harry Antrim and Betsy Vale who promise "A Little Bit of Everything;" Robert Everest's Novelty Circus, in which monkeys execute amazing feats; George M. Rossner, in impersonations and Fred and Lydia Weaver in unusual stunts on their original aerial contrivance, the Octopus.

Popular Vaudeville.
(At the Piedmont.)

Among the acts which are destined to be well received today at the first show of this weeks vaudeville bill at the Piedmont are "The Newmans." They present a fancy and trick bicycle turn that is said to be way above the average. Clifford and Wills have an eccentric singing and dancing act. Then there is Happy Jack Gardner and Company in a sketch full of humor entitled "In the War Zone." Happy Jack Gardner has visited Atlanta several times in the past and always has something to offer that pleases.

For the picture lovers there will be the last episode of "Gloria's Romance" with Billie Burke and one of the smashing western dramas enacted by William S. Hart.

Charlie Chaplin.
(At the Georgian.)

At the Georgian theater today the latest comedy made and acted by the famous comedian, Charlie Chaplin, will be the principal attraction, the title being "The Pawn Shop." It is said to be a riot of fun, a regular Chaplin comedy with Charlie in the same old pants, shoes, coat, cane and mustache. As the title indicates, the setting of the picture is beneath a three ball sign, with Charlie a sort of undercounter tender, bookkeeper, window washer and regaler of time to the fair Edna, daughter of the owner of the shop, whose kitchen filled with the dainties of her making opens into the store.

The fun is not forced, it just bubbles out. Chaplin has plenty of opportunities to clown and here he clowns superbly.

"While the City Sleeps."
(At the Grand.)

Rowland & Clifford, the producers of "While the City Sleeps," which is the attraction at the Grand all this week, have produced a new and unique comedy drama, the perfection of the stage settings and costumes is exceptional. Comedy, pathos and thrills abound in this unusual drama and a very entertaining performance is promised all who witness the play. Matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday

TRIS SPEAKER NEW BATTING LEADER

After nine years as leading batsman of the American league, Ty Cobb was forced to surrender that title this season to Tris Speaker. These two players finished their games for the season Sunday and Speaker had an unofficial average of .384, twelve points ahead of Cobb, whose unofficial percentage was .372. Speaker is credited with 210 hits for the season, as against 201 for the Georgian. Joe Jackson, the other American league slugger, also played his final game of the season Sunday and his unofficial average was .341. He made one more hit than Cobb. In Sunday's play Speaker made three hits in seven trials; Cobb three in five and Jackson two in eight.

Hal Chase added two points to his batting average in Sunday's play and seems assured of premier batting honors in the National league, his average now being .340. Daubert, his closest contender, is twenty points below him. Hornsby was the only other National league leader to get into action Sunday.

The standing:

JACK BARRY CAN PLAY IN SERIES

Boston, October 1.—Jack Barry, captain of the Boston Red Sox, 1916 champions of the American league, can get into the world series contests if necessary, President Joseph J. Lannin, of the club, announced today. In commenting upon the winning of the pennant by his team, Mr. Lannin said much credit was due to the "management to Bill Carrigan and the hard, steady work of the individual members of the team, who were without the services of Speaker and Wood, and in the final stages were without Captain Barry."

"I had no doubt," Lannin continued, "as to our ultimate success. No one can question our right to the championship because we won eleven out of the last fourteen games, defeating all pennant contenders on their home grounds. The Red Sox are a game ball club and always come back."

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY

COTTON SHOWS SLIGHT ACTIVITY

New Orleans, October 1.—Narrow fluctuations were recorded in the cotton market last week, the trade being disposed to wait on the government reports on condition and ginning before taking on fresh business of importance.

Much of the trading in contracts was in the way of evening up old commitments. The bullish features of the week caused underlying steadiness, and prices held most of the time slightly above the level of the previous week's close. At the highest, the trading months were 18 to 19 points over the preceding week's close; at the lowest they were 6 to 10 points under. The market closed net unchanged to 9 points down.

The trade appeared absorbed in the pending bureau reports. The very small tenders—about 1,000 bales here—against October on the first notice day passed almost unnoticed, as did the cold wave at the close of the week. Sensational reports from the early sections of the belt, that in some localities the crop was 90 to 95 per cent picked, ginned and even sold, stimulated little fresh buying.

The week closed with the trade expecting a bearish ginning report from the government Monday, to be followed by a bullish condition report. Expectations regarding ginning apparently range from around 4,000,000 bales up to 4,400,000. Such figures would break all records for ginning to September 25, the present high being 3,667,000 bales, made in 1911. Regarding condition figures, expectations range from 55 to 59 per cent of the normal. Probably, the majority of bullish traders expect the report to set a new low level for this month. The present low is 58.5, made in 1909. Probably it will require figures under 58 to bring about an advance, while a report of 59 would cause a decline.

Following the bureau reports attention will again be centered on the spot demand and on weather conditions.

Charlton Court Meets.

Waycross, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) Charlton superior court convenes at Folkston tomorrow morning for the regular fall term. The docket contains a number of important cases.

NEW RECORD MADE IN STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, October 1.—The month ending yesterday marked a new era in the history of the stock market. Out of a total of twenty-five working days, including five week-ends, there were twenty-one days in which sales ranged from 1,000,000 to 2,250,000 shares daily.

For the most part this feverish activity was accompanied by materially higher quotations, particularly in the industrials, coppers, motors and equipments. United States Steel was again the outstanding feature, its daily contribution to the sum total ranging from 250,000 to 400,000 shares during the last week of the month. At the new maximum of 120⅝, from which it later receded more than four points, steel made an extreme gain of about 25 points for the month.

There were other substantial gains by kindred issues and fully a score of industrials bearing more or less direct relation to equipments and munitions.

Coppers continued to supply a large part of the turnover at advancing prices, the recent huge foreign orders placing that industry on an assured basis for another year at least. Shares of other metal companies participated in the rise and numerous specialties of no particular class or designation were higher by 5 to 15 points.

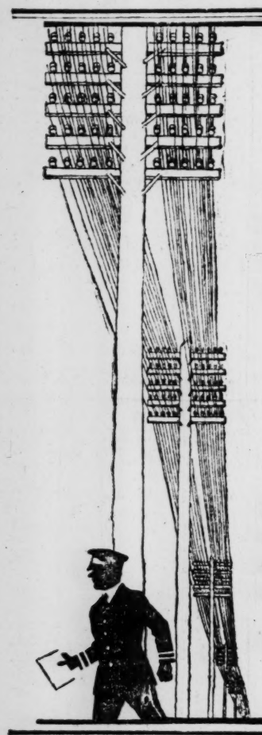

Rails were not unresponsive to brilliant annual and monthly statements of earnings, the inquiry for dealers being most marked. Norfolk and Western and Reading reached record prices, with pronounced activity and strength in Lehigh Valley and Chesapeake and Ohio. Shipping shares displayed varying tendencies, Mercantile Marine losing some ground prior to the acceptance of the reorganization plan which presages the early dismissal of the receivership.

Father of Mrs. Adams Visits Daughter's Cell In Bibb County Jail

Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—William Stokes, of Nashville, Tenn., father of Mrs. H. C. Adams, of Atlanta, who is in the Bibb county jail, charged with the murder of Captain E. J. Spratling, visited her at the jail today. He remained with his daughter five hours and when asked for a statement, said: "I have nothing to say."

Mrs. Adams was in good spirits after he left, declaring she felt as innocent as a baby, but admitted that a jury might cause her to "wake up."

"I am going to talk mighty plain to the jurors," said Mrs. Adams. "I am going to tell them everything. It'll take a mighty hard-hearted jury to send me to jail after they've heard my story. I am willing to place myself upon the justice of twelve Georgia men. I am sure they are fair-minded."

Business Conditions Excel Finest in World's History

Industrial Concerns Are Flooded With New Orders. Regardless of High Prices, Great Demand Continues, Dun's Report Says.

New York, September 30.—(Special.) Restraining influences hamper but do not check progress, current reports adding to the accumulated evidence of prosperity in industry, trade and transportation. Holiday observances have had the usual effect of temporarily limiting business in some branches and labor conditions still restrict manufacturing operations; yet bank clearings at most leading centers, as well as at the smaller cities, mount upward steadily and other statistical barometers also make remarkably gratifying exhibits.

The high and rising prices constitute a source of complaint and cause some hesitancy in forward commitments, but the purchasing power is sustained by full employment of workers at advanced wages and signs of contraction in consumption are the exception. It is noteworthy that demands are broadening in practically every direction, following the partial tie-up in mid-summer, and retail distribution, under the stimulus of recent cool weather, has developed in a way that foreshadows a record movement during the fall and winter. With consumers increasingly importunate, notwithstanding the high costs, there is some apprehension that supplies may prove inadequate, and those who neglected to cover requirements well ahead now make urgent efforts to get orders on the books of producers. Yet in most cases manufacturers are more anxious to reduce accumulated business than to accept additional contracts, deliveries being backward in many instances because labor scarcity and other conditions prevent full running of all the machinery available.

The shortage of cars also hinders shipments, though gross earnings of railroads reporting for three weeks of September are 8.1 per cent greater than in 1915, and merchandise exports last month, in spite of the restraints imposed on oversea commerce, largely surpassed all previous records. With comparatively few exceptions, mercantile collections are satisfactory and preliminary returns of nine months' failures show a marked decrease from the high mortality of 1915.

This is an era of big achievements, and no one ventures the opinion that $510,000,000 sets the monthly limit in domestic merchandise exports. Until August, the half-billion mark had never been attained, either by this or any other country, and it is possible that even the recent colossal figures may be eclipsed if goods can be produced fast enough and sufficient ships are available to carry them overseas. The nearest approach to the August record was the $475,000,000 reported last May; for the eight elapsed months of the calendar year merchandise to the value of over $3,400,000,000 has been sent abroad, while less than $1,700,000,000 has come in. With exports exceeding imports by so wide a margin and with about $1,300,000,000 of American railway securities liquidated by Europe in the last eighteen months, it is not surprising that sterling exchange fails to strengthen, though gold has been flowing this way in unprecedented volume.

Business Is Unable to Measure Extent of Present and Future Development in America, Bradstreet's Report Says.

New York, September 30.—(Special.) Trade reports are all in superlative and the United States enters the last quarter of the year with a record of past achievement and future promise such as neither this nor any other country has ever before seen. Old measures have been surpassed, and the business world is without a yardstick capable of measuring the present or the future of the country's development. War demand, the original lever of progress, is still in evidence, but in some lines purely domestic demand is now such as to give full occupation to productive energies, and given the continuance of the war abroad, no apparent change can be forecast at home.

Trade is active, more so than ever; industry is still at capacity limits, commodity prices are at new high levels, bank clearings break all records for this time of year, export trade is doing likewise, and so large is the volume of orders booked ahead that producers rather than buyers are now in many lines picking times and places of delivery. Staple goods are wanted for immediate use, for next winter and for the spring of 1917. Retail trade is of record proportions, labor is scarcer than ever, car shortages press grievously on producers as well as on consumers, and as artisans, farmers, investors, industrial interests and business men in general are all doing well, collections are good and old accounts are being squared. Short crops and the presidential campaign go practically unregarded. Besides the general trends noted in trade and industrial circles, rampant public speculation in securities seems to be under way, and dealers report a dearth of prime bonds, while at the same time there is increased evidence of speculation in commodities. Demand for coal denotes activity, mines are being worked as well as inefficient labor allows, and it is evident that cold weather will reveal a shortage of anthracite coal. Shipbuilding, considering present facilities, hardly could be more active, and it is reported that some Norwegian orders had to be turned down.

Recent rains have improved pastures and permitted fall plowing and seeding. Much early seeded wheat is up in western Kansas and Nebraska. More than the usual fall plowing has been done in the northwest. The potato crop is a very short one, and prices in some markets are the highest ever known at this period.

There is very general agreement that the cotton crop is a short one, that boll weevil damage is serious in the Mississippi valley, that fine weather aids picking, ginning and marketing, and that high prices, 4½ cents above 1915, largely make up for reduced yield. Yields of other southern crops, rice, peanuts, hay, sugar and corn, are generally good.

Tobacco producers in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, who sold their crop early are reported dissatisfied, now that prices have advanced to a still higher level. Nearly all reports as to the tobacco crop north and south are of large if not record yields, excellent quality and high prices paid.

New Jersey truck and vegetable growers report they never received higher prices or made smaller profits owing to difficulty in harvesting their crops.

BANK CLEARINGS IN UNITED STATES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Bank clearings in the United States for the past week, as reported to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $5,451,362,000, against $5,552,143,000 the week before and $4,063,475,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $197,598,000, as against $195,096,000 the week before, and $164,337,000 in this week last year.

Following are the returns for last week with percentages of change shown this week, as compared with this week last year.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN TO "LILAC DOMINO" BY LEADING CRITICS

"The Lilac Domino," which comes to the Atlanta theater tonight, has been more highly praised than any musical show in two years. Critics throughout the south have joined the critics of the big city in praising the offering and have added enthusiastic words regarding the very fine company. This company is declared to be absolutely high class in every particular and worthy of the strongest support.

Douglas Gordon, in The Richmond Times-Dispatch, says:

"The 'Lilac Domino' opened the season wide, letting in with it bright comedy, sheer fun, and the loveliest music in years. The audience had a 'show me' attitude and Mr. Dippel's company certainly showed me and everyone else. One can't go wrong in seeing it. There is a well-defined story, which races along the lines of least resistance, punctuated here and there by a moment of witty dialogue, again by an instant of quick buffoonery, yet again by a flash of romance and all of the while pervaded, permeated by music that tinkles, or ripples or—now and then—hesitates and syncopates, and then resolves itself into delicious melody. Its lucious music does not form a cloak to hide deficiencies, but a fluffy, betrimmed, slashed and short-skirted costume to bedeck a well-rounded company. In a word its all there."

The Virginian said: "'The Lilac Domino' is an uncommonly pretty little opera with a constantly melodious score. If you are fond of light opera, you can scarcely afford to miss this one. It is well worth listening to and looking at, and, if we mistake, not, there will be many less interesting attractions ere the season is many weeks old."

The Norfolk Landmark said: "Real music that grippled and stayed—syncopation without a slur, beautiful songs well sung, a perfectly trained chorus and good orchestration were heard in 'The Lilac Domino.' 'Madame Sherry,' 'The Chocolate Soldier,' 'Sari' and 'The Lilac Domino'—you can count the great comic operas of the last decade on the fingers of one hand. And in many ways 'The Lilac Domino' should head the list. It was a fine and perfect presentation which won unanimous, sincere approval."

Other papers in all parts of the south have been similar in praise of the play, and Manager Homer George asserts Atlantans will be missing a rare treat if they fail to see this play, which will be here tonight, Tuesday matinee and night.

Bainbridge, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—The Jewish synagogue, Temple Bethel, recently completed here, was dedicated today with impressive ceremonies. The edifice was filled to its capacity and many were turned away. Rabbi E. A. Landau, of Albany, conducted the exercises. Temple Bethel is one of the prettiest sacred edifices in this section. 12-CENT LOAN MINIMUM ON ALL COTTON CROPS

Fort Worth, Texas, October 1.—(Special.)—Henry N. Pope, president of the Farmers' Union State Presidents' association, has submitted to all southern members of congress the suggestion that congress fix or empower the federal reserve board to fix a minimum loan price of 12 cents per pound on cotton for all crops. A large majority of the replies from senators and representatives favor the plan, and Mr. Pope stated today that he would call a special meeting of his association in New Orleans at an early date to give it final consideration and work out the details. Many members of congress have expressed their willingness to give the movement their co-operation.

Hardwick Favors Plan.

Among the numerous communications received by President Pope was the following from Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, saying:

"I cannot see for a moment why this board should not be authorized to fix a minimum price on which cotton loans should be accepted. I am already giving this subject careful consideration, and I hope that at an early date something effective and reasonable may be worked out along the line of your suggestions."

Representative T. W. Sims, of Tennessee, writes:

"I am in hearty sympathy with this proposition and I shall be glad to do all I can to secure the legislation needed just as soon as congress convenes in December. You can rely upon me without any sort of hesitation to give this or kindred legislation active and earnest support."

Representative Otis Wingo, of Arkansas, states: "I shall be glad to do anything I can toward amending the federal reserve act along proper lines with a view of facilitating credits for the cotton farmer and giving him greater freedom in the marketing of his cotton."

Loan Minimum and Selling Minimum.

President Pope states that there should be a careful distinction between the loan minimum and selling minimum of cotton. "The loan minimum should be protected by the government," he said, "and cotton would, of course, never be sold below that point. The selling minimum is one that the union advises its members to sell and may change from crop to crop or from time to time. With a protected loan minimum of 12 cents, the selling minimum of 20 cents can be more easily maintained. The government would never be called upon to put up one cent under this plan, for when a farmer knows he can borrow 12 cents per pound on cotton he will never sell unless he can get a much higher price. Neither could the consumer be penalized for the fluctuations in the price of cotton has little effect upon the price of the finished product to the consumer. We expect to mature our plans at our meeting at New Orleans, and it is likely we will seek the counsel and approval of the federal reserve board before presenting our plans to congress."

Leaders of Federation Will Meet to Consider "Sympathy Resolution"

The executive council of the Atlanta Federation of Trades will hold a call meeting at the Labor Temple at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of considering passing a "sympathy resolution" for the newly organized union and strikers among the street car men.

Election at Moultrie.

Moultrie, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) The voters of Moultrie will name three members of city council in tomorrow's election. The five candidates who are seeking the three places are J. J. Roberts, J. Frank Norman, G. L. Doster, O. A. Thaxton and Evans Reynolds. There is considerable interest in the election and a big vote will be polled.

EXTREME WEAKNESS AND SUFFERING

Read How Mrs. Goodling got Relief and Strength.

York, Pa.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found it to be all you say it is. I was so sick that I could not stand at my sink to wash dishes and I could not sit without a pillow under me. I had the doctor every few days but since I have taken the Compound I don't have to send for him. I have had three children and could not raise any of them, but since I have taken the Compound I have a bright baby boy. I advise every suffering woman to try it and get relief. It has done wonders for me."—Mrs. CATHARINE GOODLING, 138 E. King Street, York, Pa.

When a medicine has been successful in bringing health to so many, no woman has a right to say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Goodling, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

If there are any complications you don't understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.
